$1 Million in State Aid for Schools Here to Lower Tax Rates

It's only for one year, but it's as welcome as diamonds for Christmas.

Under the school aid distribution bill signed into law by Governor Brendan T. Byrne last Wednesday, the two Princetons will receive $280,773 in tax relief, with the possibility of even more.

The rateables division formula will give the Township the benefit of two-thirds -- or about $180,000 -- and the Borough, one-third --, about $100,000.

For Township taxpayers, this is around six tax points; in the Borough, it's 10 or 11.

The entire lump sum for Princeton's regional school district is $1,053,238. That includes the $190,090 which the school board budgeted because it expected it would have to pay a 25 percent share of teachers' pensions -- that bill died in the Legislature -- plus $863,148 in so-called "new money."

Within the $863,148, is a tantalizing sum which, for the first time, will be under the direct control of municipal governing bodies. The amount is $427,599, and the Princeton school system can't spend a penny of it unless Borough Council and Township Committee, acting after public hearings, say so.

The new law says that the school board must hold a public meeting within 30 days of the governor's signing to decide what part of this money will go toward reducing the tax levy, and what part will go toward school programs.

The school board will then send its decision to the state's Commissioner of Education. Fifteen days later -- probably in mid-December, at least in the Borough -- the governing bodies themselves will hold public meetings.

After listening to the public and pondering the school board's decision, the governing bodies will decide what amount -- IF ANY -- the school board will be allowed to spend out of the $427,599.

"The school board, in essence, will be asked 'How much do you want and what do you want to do with it?'" explains Borough Council's finance chairman, Gus Escher, "and then will be told, by us, how much they will get. They must be able to show that without this money, their capacity to provide thorough-and-efficient education will be, in the words of the law, 'substantially impaired.'"

After governing bodies have made their decision, the Commissioner of Education must decide, within 45 days, how much of the amount within the amount approved by the governing body, can be spent.

What if Borough Council and Township Committee don't agree?

"We'll have to work out a com-

Princeton Ridge Development Would Consist Of 632 Housing Units on Tract of 230 Acres

The pretty map on the wall with its bright green woodland was only visible out of the corner of the eye and no speaker referred directly to its features, but it dominated the meeting last Monday night, as consultants for Gibbs & Hill described to the Princeton Regional Planning Board their housing and land-use studies.

Carefully, they did not describe their proposed 632-unit "Princeton Ridge" development because this was not a standard appearance before the board with site plan and all the rest. Gibbs & Hill had asked to appear before the board to present their information "as an aid to your housing study," in the words of Gordon Kennedy, one of the consultants.

A standing-room-only audience filled the Township Hall meeting room. It was an attentive, good-humored audience consisting largely of people who would be neighbors of Princeton Ridge. Many are members of the Stuart Hill Association and the Ridge Hill Association.

Princeton Ridge consists of a 230-acre tract which Karl Dravo Pettit sold to the Dravo Corporation, whose wholly-owned subsidiary Gibbs and Hill is. The land lies, in part, along Cherry Valley Road, and is bounded by Balcort Drive and Arretton Road.

To Avoid Variances. The parcel is in a single-family zone, and if Gibbs & Hill wanted to build today, they would need variances. However, their attorney, Reeves Hicks, assured the Planning Board that the firm will not seek use variances, and hopes to fit its plans with the board's own housing policy.

"We'll wait," Mr. Hicks said, but he pointed out that Township Committee, under the state's new land use law, could pass ordinances not in harmony with the Master Plan, if it gives reasons. Mr. Hicks added that he hopes for final action by February 1, but Township Mayor Jay Bleiman said that was unlikely.

Mr. Kennedy said his firm, Gladstone Associates, of Washington, D.C., agreed with the Planning Board that Princeton is in danger of becoming a homogenous community unless something is done about housing.

Diversification is the great need, he emphasized, providing homes for "empty nest" couples in late middle age, the elderly, newlyweds, a growing population of singles and growing families bursting the seams of too-small houses.

The Plot Plan - A plot like Dravo's 230-acre tract he said, might have houses in the $80,000 to $150,000 bracket on one and separate $65 - 75,000 houses on three-quarter acre lots; two or up to five attached houses in clusters at $60,000 to $80,000 and town houses ranging from as low as $43,000 up to $58,000, for an average of $60,000.

With current zoning, he reminded the board, the 230-unit acre lot could hold only 110 units. The bright green map showed all 632 units, drawn in various single, double or cluster formations.

The houses described, he said, would serve the broad economic middle, touching the "moderate" category with the $45,000 range. But low-to-moderate income needs can really be met only by apartments, he said, Gibbs & Hill "aren't promising apartments."

The ridge of land, Mr. Kennedy continued, isn't regarded as desirable for apartments: it's too far from the urban amenities apartment-dwellers need and want, and would present problems in site coverage, water runoff and so on.

Trade-Offs. Planners and housing experts talk in terms of density trade-off, meaning that a community will allow a builder to put up more houses in return for houses in a lower price bracket.

"The density-price tradeoff has gone as far as it can here," Mr. Kennedy declared. He reminded the board that the Real Estate Research Corporation study said a development in Princeton could provide low-income units up to one-third the total number of houses in a development, through density bonuses. He challenged this figure. A maximum of ten percent would be more realistic, he said.

But Planning Board member Martha Lamar in turn challenged him, quoting RERC findings that Princeton's housing market is so strong that a developer could indeed "recapture" his land value by providing high-density units. The density in the Gibbs & Hill proposal is 2.7 units per acre.

Find other sites for low and moderate-income houses, Mr. Kennedy advised, suggesting that a "sophisticated partnership of private and public" in something like a housing authority, can find ways to subsidize these low-income units.

A Village Concept. Margen Penick, board vice-chairman who presided, reminded the developers' consultants that the Planning Board proposes a "village" concept of growth.

"Density is what's eating up the landscape," she observed, "Why haven't you provided a 'village'?"

Mr. Strong suggested Princeton Ridge might be part of a village. "You rarely find a site suitable for all forms of housing, which is what a village contains," he said.

High density and the environment were on the minds of those in the audience.

"You say the land isn't suitable for apartments—maybe 150 of them for around 600 people," said Ken Wakefield, who identified himself as a Montgomery resident, "if that's so, how can it be suited for 632 units and about 2,400 people?"

Constance Brauer, of Ridgeview Road, questioned the relevance of Mr. Strong's remarks about the development of adjoining Montgomery.

"We relate to Princeton—we don't feel oriented to Montgomery, there is no economic interplay," she said, "Why, we don't even drive there!"

But Mr. Strong told her marketing studies show that 30 percent of the shoppers in the Montgomery Center are from Princeton.

Princeton Ridge won't be advertised in big-city papers, Mr. Kennedy assured the audience. Gibbs & Hill sees the nine townships closest to Princeton as the source for customers, he said.

Time to Call a Halt. "The Planning Board must say 'Stop!'" declared Robert Stabler, Stuart Road. "The concept of 'housing need' is a moving target. All these nuances about helping the Planning Board develop its new housing plan—it bothers me. It's gone so far now and nobody has said stop. You should tell them it's absurd, and their chances of approval are minimal. The more and more money they spend, the more inevitable it all becomes."

Gibbs & Hill arrived with about two dozen inch-thick brochures containing details, charts, maps and tables relating to all aspects of the development. They are available for inspection at the Planning Board office in Borough Hall and in the public library.

Last week, Township Committee debated whether

$1 Million in State Aid

promise," Mr. Escher says.

The $427,299 sum brings a gleam to the eyes of the finance chairman.

"We're clearly going to get a $100,000 reduction in the Borough," Mr. Escher points out. "If we don't let the schools do anything with the $427,599, we'd get another $270,000 in tax relief."

The whole prospect brings a wan smile to the face of Ronald Novak, the schools' business administrator.

Qualified Agreement. "I can't say I like it, but it makes sense," he concedes. "The state sees that $427,599 as not having been in the school budget. The voters never had a chance to vote on it, so the state has set up a mechanism whereby the town officials take the place of the voters."

Another dollar amount may be vaguely in the memories of Princeton taxpayers. That is the $316,000 cut out of the school budget in surgery performed last spring by Borough Council and Township Committee, after voters turned down the budget at the polls.

The school board appealed that decision, and the appeal has not yet been decided. If the school board hadn't appealed, Mr. Escher points out, the $316,000 would be added to the $427,599, on which the governing bodies must pass.

Suppose the board wins? "If the appeal is granted, and the board gets back the $316,000 we cut," Mr. Escher says, "it won't go against the property tax—it will come out of the income-tax. If the Commissioner of Education denies the appeal, the amount will go toward reducing the property tax."

In a sense, therefore, this particular situation is almost no-lose for Princeton.

The new state law is what

Mr. Escher calls "a one-year bridge," designed to get school districts and communities across the turbulence of this past year, when it has been impossible to anticipate what kind of state aid money for schools would be coming.

The state wants to make sure, Mr. Escher explains, that ALL school programs are necessary for a thorough-and-efficient education; wants to minimize unnecessary school spending and increase the control by municipal officials.

In its dry legal language, the law says it like this, "Accommodation of these competing interests (is) probably the best attainable under the circumstances."

DRIVER HITS CYCLIST
Charged With Drunk Driving. A 17-year old Princeton driver was arrested and charged with three traffic violations Thursday afternoon after he allegedly struck a bicyclist and left the scene.

Released later in $250 bail is Steve J. Farrington, 117 McCosh Circle. He has been charged with driving while impaired by alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident and careless driving.

The cyclist, David B. Salomon, Room 319, 1942 Hall, Princeton University, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for leg injuries and released.

According to police, Mr. Salomon, riding north on Ewing Street, had indicated a left hand turn signal and was in the process of turning when he was struck by the Farrington car near the driveway at 346 Ewing. Police report his bicycle was hung up on the front end of the car and dragged 31 feet.

"Fortunately, when he fell off his bike, he fell to one side, clear of the car," commented Chief Frederick Porter. "Otherwise, he might have been run over."

Police said that a resident who had witnessed the incident called police.

WOMAN CHARGED
Following Shoplifting. A Trenton resident, Rose Thompson, 27, has been charged with possession of stolen property after she allegedly shoplifted a brown pants suit valued at $148 from Bellows on Nassau Street.

Detectives Charles Harris and Timothy Huizing and P.U. Gerald Patterson responded to a Thursday call from a store employee who gave them a description of the suspect. She was later apprehended on Nassau near Chestnut Street.

Ms. Thompson, police said, had the suit in her possession at the time. She is scheduled to appear in Borough Court December 15.

Also scheduled to appear in court the same day, charged with assault, is Steve Hoehle given to University security members.

A University proctor called Borough police Friday to report that the victim had identified the suspect. He was turned over to Sgt. Thomas Procaccino of the Borough police.

Mr. Hoehle was arrested and issued a complaint summons after he is alleged to have used profane language against a Princeton resident and slapped her, following a disagreement over the amount of gasoline that he had pumped in her car.

The incident took place on November 3 and was reported last Wednesday.

A 17-year old Princeton juvenile was turned over to Det. Huizing last week for processing and later released to his father, following his arrest Friday in connection with a break-in November 7 at Lockhart Hall on the University campus.

In that entry, a student's wallet was tampered with but nothing was taken. A description of the suspect was

Margaret Broadwater's Appointment to Planning Board Draws Charge from Republicans on Committee That Politics Prevailed

Jay Bleiman refers to himself ruefully as the township's lame duck mayor because he goes out of office on New Year's Day, and election results will give the mayor's chair to a Republican—probably Elizabeth Hutter.

But there's life in the Democratic mayor yet, and to show it, Mayor Bleiman proposed last Thursday night the name of his Democratic colleague, Margaret Broadwater, as Township Committee's representative on the Princeton Regional Planning Board. She will replace Abbot Low Moffat, who bowed out of Committee that same evening, when Democratic David Blair was sworn in.

With the only other Republican, Josie Hall, absent, Mrs. Broadwater's appointment was made unanimously. Mrs. Hutter voted for her, expressing high regard for Mrs. Broadwater's qualifications, and dismay that Mrs. Broadwater won't be mayor. She would have been, if the Democrats had won.

"But I'm puzzled by this rush to make an appointment to the Planning Board," Mrs. Hutter added plaintively, "when the seat was vacant so long in the spring."

It was vacant because the Democratic majority was marking time, hoping for a favorable court decision that would open the way to appoint Mr. Moffat both to Committee and the Planning Board. He was named to the board this summer.

Mrs. Hutter's plaintive cry apparently grew to anger the more she thought about it, because in a stinging letter to the press this week (see "Mailbox," page 19) she accuses Mayor Bleiman of playing politics, says that she herself had behaved in a non-partisan manner, and warns the community that other political appointments may be made in the weeks before New Year's Day.

An official with strong environmental concerns, Mrs. Hutter sees the Planning Board as overloaded with people who lean more toward housing than toward ecology. Mrs. Broadwater, she says, is not known as an environmentalist.

"I am stunned by Mrs. Hutter's letter," Mayor Bleiman said on Tuesday. "It seems to raise questions about Mrs. Broadwater's qualifications to sit on the Planning Board as Committee's representative, and it's in marked contrast to what Mrs. Hutter said the night of the appointment."

"I do not know what prompted her to write the letter, but perhaps it was written because others, who weren't present at that meeting, may have criticized her for voting for Mrs. Broadwater."

The mayor pointed out that no other vacancies remain to be filled this year.

impugns my character, the character of Township Committee -- Republicans and Democrats alike -- and the Sewerage Authority."

Dr. Cherry has urged the Township to extricate itself from the Authority, but Mayor Bleiman said on Thursday, "Paying our share of regional facilities must be weighed against going it alone. The level of treatment will be far greater in any regional system, and there is no question that it is cheaper for the Township. Unilateral action couldn't have gotten any Federal or state funds."

In other action last Thursday, Committee agreed to think awhile before accepting a gift of ten Brookstone acres from L.S. Greene.

"There are two ways of considering a gift," intoned Mayor Bleiman. "Never look a gift horse in the mouth," or "Always look a gift horse in the mouth."

Committee is worried about the tax loss if the parcel goes off the rolls. The land, partly in the floodplain, has a $77,000 assessment.

The Department of Transportation, to Committee's pleasure, has agreed to name a technical advisory committee and a citizens advisory committee on I-95 and invites communities to appoint one citizen to each. These appointments are expected to be made Saturday.

PRIVATE TALKS?

Over Valley Road Lease. The school board and the Township have been dickering over leasing space in the old Valley Road School building for Township offices. Is the board required to hold these discussions in public, under the "Sunshine" law?

According to the board's attorney, Thomas Cook, the law says a public body can conduct property negotiations publicly or privately, as it chooses. At the board's PLAN AHEAD.....

Capital Budget Ready. Setting aside golf clubs and lawn rakes, Township Committee will meet this Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in Township Hall for a work-session, public invited.

"The town tends to over-react to capital budgets," observed Mayor Jay Bleiman with a sign last Thursday. Committee had just received its annual capital budget from the committee charged with preparing it.

This one is a $7.2 million, six-year budget, with $3.1 million ear-marked for 1977. People over-react, the mayor continued, because everybody forgets the budget is only a time-table, not a ticket for the trip. Everything in it must be ordinated before it can be built or bought.

The Township's new capital plan has, for 1977, the sum of $1,487,000 to correct sewer infiltration problems over a three-year period. The Township will only have to pay $156,800; Federal and state money pays for the rest.

There is also $315,000 in Green Acres applications -- sites yet to be chosen -- and some carry-overs for this year, like bikeways and an amphitheatre for the north side recreation spot.

The budget will be discussed in more detail Saturday.

Charges Renewed. Sewers, as always, are on the agenda as well; Committee plans to hear the report of its engineering consultant on Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority costs for Plan A and Plan X.

Sewers erupted into the meeting last Thursday, when William Cherry, defeated Republican candidate for the two-year Committee seat, again charged that Committee had been wrong to sign the service agreement with the Authority.

He also charged that Mayor Bleiman had never replied to a letter on the question, and had threatened "retaliation in kind" when Dr. Cherry went to the press with a detailed story of his charges.

"I never said I would retaliate in kind," Mayor Bleiman retorted. "I did say I was sorry you had gone to the press, but I ignored it as simply part of your election campaign. Your essay on the sewer agreement is egregiously in error and hostile, full of innuendoes."

"It is in fact disgraceful. It

November 2 meeting, the six members present voted 4-2 to keep the discussions private. "No" votes were cast by Joan Doig and Dietrich Meyerhofer. The board did say, however, that the public will have an opportunity to be heard.

According to Michael Santaniello, a deputy attorney general for the state, the "Sunshine" law allows public bodies to hold private discussions if they're going to spend public money to acquire property, because public discussions could cause real estate speculation.

"That's the intent of the law," he says, "but here, you have the public funds of another public body--the Township--and it's an unusual situation. It's really a question of legal interpretation and I think a court would have to decide."

The question, he said, is whether private or public discussions could have an adverse affect on the public interest. If a citizen feels aggrieved, he added, a complaint could be filed.

The question of public or private discussion has been raised by the Princeton Regional Education Association and private citizens.

SMALL FIRES ERUPT

No Serious Damage. There were a number of small fires reported in Princeton this week but none developed into anything serious.

Around noon Tuesday, Township police sent one truck to clear smoke from the kitchen in the home of Charles K. Kliment, 321 Walnut Lane. A roast had been left in the oven too long, police said.

Monday night, the car of Frank L. Whittaker, 10 Beach Hill Circle, caught fire on Princeton Avenue near Nassau. It had to be towed away after being extinguished by Ptl. Gerald Patterson and Sgt. Robert Anderson.

Earlier the same evening at 8:22, police and three fire units responded to a fire in the kitchen of the home of Ms. Reba M. Tindall, 14 Edgehill Street. Lt. John J. Bellow reported that the electrical fire was located inside a kitchen wall and was put out

It's going to be a bit greater this week, because all that highly unseasonable cold weather will be replaced for a few days by a distinctly milder trend.

The cold has been dry -- little or no precipitation has been measured in these parts since the first of the month. The Man warns that a correction of such a trend may be in store along about Saturday by police using a powder extinguisher. Firemen then tore the wall apart to make sure the fire was out, he said.

Sunday morning at 9:28, Ptl. William Clark and Ptl. David Alston responded to a call reporting a fire in the second floor of the home of Mrs. J.L. Marshall, 13 Quarry Street.

A mattress was burned and there was some smoke damage to a second floor bedroom. Lt. Bellow said that police believe a cigarette was the cause of the fire.

There were two field fires last week near the Hun School football field.

One, in an area behind 113 Hun Road on Sunday, burned out an area approximately 50-foot square before being put out by three fire trucks. Police said they believe the fire was set by juveniles. It was investigated by Ptl. David Cromwell.

Saturday afternoon, a leaf fire in a wooded area behind 191 Hun Road, burned out a 3-x-25 foot strip. It appeared to have been started by a match or carelessly thrown cigarette, police said. Ptl. Mario Musso investigated.

SIBLINGS TO VISIT

In New Program at Hospital. The Medical Center at Princeton will initiate a new program of Sibling Visitation beginning on the maternity floor, Thanksgiving Day, November 25.

In the past, members of the medical profession were concerned that older children would expose newborns and mothers to colds, flu and other diseases. However the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology and the Pediatricians on the staff of the Medical Center have met and studied this question extensively on a number of occasions. From statistical reports received from a number of hospitals throughout the country which have experimented and adopted the policy, they have learned that there has been no indication of contamination or infection through contact of children with their new brother or sister.

The program will be implemented cautiously at the Medical Center. Older siblings will visit their mother in the maternity unit by appointment, and the mother will then take them to the nursery where through a glass partition she will show the newborn. Afterwards, the children may visit with their mother for a short period of time.

The doctors feel that the benefits of sibling visitation outweigh any risks. One of the most important aspects of this new plan is the continuation of contact between the mother and the children who are at home when she delivers.

Report Advises Single Plant for Sewers

The single-plant Plan A has been recommended to the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority by Westwater, Gaston and Dunka, consultants retained by the Authority to analyze various plans.

"It would provide the greatest potential for meeting the requirements of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 now, and over the next 20 to 40 years," the report says.

The plan buys "substantially" more water-pollution control potential so that, when additional service is required, there won't have to be a second round of investment in pipes, a second round, the report warns, which would probably have to be paid for by the municipalities themselves, without grants.

The three-plant solution "is designed to limit service and not to eliminate water pollution," the report says. "It doesn't address existing water pollution in the service area," and could not address future conditions without more money.

Regarding the alleged rape of rural Hopewell Township by a single-plant system the report points out that Hopewell isn't farm country any more. "...well-to-do and sophisticated managers and professionals who have moved to Hopewell Township use it for an exurban function, not an agricultural one. They go (to the cities) for employment, and return to live in costly, single-family housing in pleasant surroundings. To ignore the real function this land area presently serves, is to ignore the likely conditions of the future."

The three-plant system "might meet a preconceived, popular notion of environmental consciousness" but would spend taxpayers money for facilities that wouldn't abate water pollution, or meet future water quality requirements, the report states.

MAN RELEASED IN BAIL

After Malicious Damage Rampage, Frederick W. Bird, 22, of 13 Bank Street, is presently out of jail in $1,000 bail after being charged last week by Township police with malicious damage and being under the influence of a narcotic.

Police have charged him with maliciously damaging furniture and rooms in the home of Hugh F. Cline, 133 Mansgrove Road. He allegedly became violent and started tearing up the Cline home when he asked for and was denied a drink of gin.

According to police, Bird knocked on the door of the Cline home shortly after 10 Saturday evening, walked into the kitchen and asked for help. When he was refused his request for gin, he began destroying the house. Police said that he did not know the Clines.

Sgt. Jack Petrone was the first to arrive and he attempted to subdue Bird. He was assisted by Ptl. Mario Musso and Ptl. Jerry Offredo. Because of his actions, Bird was first taken by police to Princeton Medical Center. When the Medical Center later released him, he was placed in jail.

In a partial listing of the damage, police said that Bird cracked the Cline's television screen, smashed a teapot, broke windows and did considerable damage to the Cline's canvas-topped Jeep parked in their garage.

SIX ARE FINED

For Speeding. Six Princeton residents were fined $15 each by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough court Monday for speeding.

They are Elizabeth P. Fisher, 500 Lake Drive; Lillian Tenney, 168 Hickory Court; Rhoda Jaffin, 522 Rosedale Road; John E. Dowd, 303B Kingston Terrace; Susan H. Abbott, 218C Eisenhower Street, and Wallace M. Alston Jr., 81 Westcott Road.

Jorge Davila, 12 Tupelo Row, was fined $30 for disobeying a traffic officer's signal, and Bruce Duba, 139 N. Harrison Street, paid $15 for improper passing.

Choosing a Superintendent

A committee of citizens will be invited to meet with the two finalists for the job of school superintendent, the school board said this week. The committee will be asked for "impressions, not recommendations," said board president Dietrich Meyerhofer, and will meet with the two candidates when they visit Princeton with their spouses.

The invitational brochure will go out this week to 500 names scattered over the whole country, the board said, with 100 going to placement offices and agencies concerned with affirmative action and the like, and 400 to people known to Princeton's three consultants. These 400 are expected to make recommendations of their own.

About 150 to 200 people are expected to apply for the job. The school board has agreed not to exclude people without PhD, or without actual experience as a superintendent, Dr. Meyerhofer said.

SHOTGUN IS STOLEN

From Parked Truck. A Winchester Model 401 shotgun valued at $400 was stolen Friday from behind the seat of a pickup truck parked on Pine Street.

Police, who identified the owner as a West Windsor resident, reported that there were no signs of forced entry.

missing Monday from a kitchen closet by their owner, Kenneth Rochester, 17 Mulberry Row. He told police that he had last seen them a week ago.

The rifles were a Marlin 30-30 lever action valued at $150 and a Stevens .22 caliber single shot bolt action valued at $20. There were no indications of forced entry, police said.

A Princeton University student listed the theft last

Two rifles were discovered week of her $300 Rolex wristwatch. It was inside her pocketbook which had been removed from a basement coat rack in the old Nassau Street School building, 185 Nassau Street. The pocketbook was found later outside.

Between 6:30 and 6:40 Thursday evening, someone removed the right front vent window of a car parked in a lot at the Princeton Medical Center and removed a CB radio valued at $130. The victim is a resident of Hightstown.

Last week, while playing tennis at the Community Park bubble, Susan Brainard, 65 Westerly Road, placed her canvas shoulder bag on the floor near the doorway. A thief, who had first jammed the revolving doorway with a screwdriver, reached under the edge of the canvas dome and snatched the pocketbook.

Inside was a wallet containing $50. The pocketbook was later found by two boys in the rear of a Birch Avenue home intact except for the money.

Home Is Entered. The home of Ruth M. Koch, 300 Ewing Street, was entered last week by a thief who forced the screen of a rear bedroom window.

When the victim returned home Friday evening at 8:20, she discovered a 12-inch television set was missing ($40) and two pocketbooks. The latter yielded $10 and a 25-year old gold watch valued at $40. Ptl. Mario Musso investigated.

PLACES AVAILABLE

At U-NOW Nursery School. The University-NOW Day Nursery has a limited number of immediate openings for 3½ to 6 years olds. Applications may be obtained by calling the director, Ann Rue, at 924-4214.

U-NOW, located at 171 Broadmead, offers a year-round educational program for 68 children ages 2 through 6, including a full-day, certified kindergarten. It is open each weekday from 8 to 6. Tuition is $205 per month.

The nursery's objective is to provide working parents with a child care service which is a creative living environment, child-centered and developmental. The program is planned to avoid sex-stereotyping so that children of both sexes can be engaged in a broader range of classroom experiences and activities. Although U-NOW is not a cooperative, parents are encouraged to share their time and talents as they are able and to participate in the governance of the school.

MEDICAL FACILITY SET
For Jamesburg Area A new Medical Primary Care facility created to provide primary health service for the residents of Jamesburg, Rossmore, Clearbrook, Cranbury, and South Brunswick will open during the first week of December as a Unit of Princeton Medical Center. The residents of that area will now be able to receive primary health treatment close to home.

In 1975, a study conducted by the Marketing Research Department of E.R. Squibb and Sons, Inc., indicated a need for a Primary Health Care Unit in the Jamesburg area. The findings of the report were presented to the trustees and administration of the Princeton Medical Center. One recommendation was for seven additional general or family practice physicians in the Jamesburg area to meet the burgeoning population growth and needs of the people in the surrounding communities.

The members of the Emergency Panel of the hospital met with the administration and agreed to look into the possibility of establishing a Primary Care Unit. Interested representatives of the various communities later met with the physicians to discuss their needs, and John Abeel Jr., president of Foresgate, Inc., offered to lease the old Hatchery on Possum Hollow Road to establish the facility.

The Unit will provide five new family practice physicians who will be backed up by major consultants in various surgical and medical sub-specialties ranging from orthopedic surgeons to pediatricians. Initially, plans call for a physician to be on duty 8 to 5 six days a week. From 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. a qualified nurse practitioner will be available.

After 11 p.m. and on Sunday, a communications network will be utilized whereby a patient can reach one of the family practice physicians at the Emergency Room in The Medical Center at Princeton. In addition to the medical and nursing personnel, extensive laboratory and x-ray facilities will also be available to all patients at the Primary Care Unit.

The interior contains four examination rooms, two patient consultation areas, as well as doctors and nurses offices. Additionally, a complete Laboratory and X-Ray Suite will be maintained. There is a specially-designed ramp for emergency and wheelchair use, exterior lighting is provided to benefit patients who visit the unit during late evening hours, and there are extensive parking facilities.

Dr. John C. Freda, chairman of the department of

Bogus $10 Bill Passed

A bogus $10 bill was passed Friday in a Princeton Shopping Center store, reported Chief Frederick Porter, who added that the fake bill bore a "pretty good likeness" to the real thing.

An examination of the bill, Chief Porter said, revealed that it was a $1 bill with fake $10s pasted in each corner. The modus operandi of the suspect, he said, was to purchase several items, paying for them with a good $10 and passing the bogus $10 at the same time. He said police have no description of the suspect.

Chief Porter urged that merchants examine all bills carefully, "especially as the holiday season approaches."

family practice at the Medical Center at Princeton previously held a general practice in South Brunswick. Both he and Dr. Thomas P. Cortelyou, chairman of the emergency services department, have extensive experience in geriatric work as physicians at the Merwick Unit of the Princeton Medical Center. Joining them in staffing this facility are Frank A. Sparrow, M.D., James J. Daubert, M.D., and Charles Grunau, M.D., members of the Emergency Panel at Princeton Medical Center.

MEETINGS PLANNED

By West Windsor Board. The West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Board of Education has planned a series of public meetings to present the tentative 1977-78 budgets to the various schools. A tentative budget must be filed with the County Superintendent by December 1.

Residents of the school district will receive an overview of the total tentative 1977-78 budget on Tuesday, November 30. All of the budget meetings will be held in room 200D of the High School and are scheduled to begin at 8.

A special public meeting has been scheduled for Monday, November 22, at 8 at the High School. Residents will be given an orientation in the processes involved in the new T & E legislation by Mrs. Charlotte Danielson, T & E coordinator.

The legislation, which mandates goal development, assessment objectives and needs identification, will require community participation. The regional district completed the goal development phase two years ago and will be working on translating those goals into measurable objectives. All interested citizens are urged to attend.

TURKEY ROAST PLANNED

For Senior Citizens. The Princeton Senior Citizens Club and the Senior Resource Center are co-sponsoring a Thanksgiving gathering on Tuesday, at the Community Park School, Witherspoon Street.

A social hour will begin the evening at 3:30 with dinner to be served by 5:30. All Princeton residents age 60 or over are invited.

The impetus for the dinner began with the donation of 2 turkeys to the Resource Center and a third to the Senior Club by the Citizens Rifle & Revolver Club. Since then there has been a flurry of activity with residents baking pies, arranging transportation, making decorations and setting up entertainment.

Those wishing to attend must register by calling 921-9480. Each person will be asked to bring a plate, silverware, and a side dish or other needed items.

Proposed Expansion of Princeton Airport Draws Opposition in Montgomery — Jets a Possibility

A proposal to acquire Princeton Airport on Route 206, double its size, install all-weather equipment and in the process reap a harvest of tax ratable from the industry that would be attracted by such a facility has not met with enthusiasm from the majority of Montgomery Township committee members.

The proposal was made first to the Montgomery Township Industrial Commission and more recently to Township Committee by Garibaldi Realty Company of Springfield, acting as agent for David Van Dyke, owner and operator for the airport.

Under the plan, Montgomery would acquire the approximately 500 acres the airport is now situated on and add another 500 acres to lengthen one runway and construct a second. Federal funds amounting to 80 to 90 percent of the purchase price and expansion costs are reportedly available should it be bought by the township, but the exact terms of such a grant are not known.

According to William Boos of Garibaldi who made the presentation, the airport expansion would bring in research and development firms dependent on air travel. "It would be nice growth, not steel mills," he is quoted as saying. "We are talking about executive headquarters for businessmen who have to move in and out quickly."

Free Ride? No price tag has been assigned to the plan as yet, but according to Mr. Boos the township may not have to pay a cent. The remaining 10-20 percent not covered by the grant from the Federal Aviation Administration could come from rent paid by Princeton Airport in return for management of the facility.

According to Mr. Van Dyke, the airport needs an instrument landing system. A second 5,000 north-south runway, in addition to the proposed 3,100 foot extension of the existing 1,100 foot east-west runway, would be needed for safety reasons, he feels.

Jets a Possibility. Runways of that length would be able to accommodate corporate jets, according to Michael Dillon, vice-president of the engineering firm of Porter and Ripa. However, it was noted at the meeting that Montgomery has an ordinance banning jets from Princeton Airport.

TWENTY-THREE BORN In Princeton Medical Center. In the week ending November 12 there were 14 boys and nine girls born in the Medical Center at Princeton.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Darrell L. Snider, Jr., 91 Conover Road, Robbinsville; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stuzynski, 310 Lake Avenue, Trenton, both on November 7; Mr. and Mrs. Harlow M. James 175 Klockner Avenue, Trenton, November 8; Mr. and Mrs. George Cirullo, 10 Forrestal Road, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook, 9 Suffolk Lane, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mallardi, 25 North Mill Road, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mastrosimone, Springhill Road, Skillman; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Zucker, 30 Grandin Drive, Flemington, all on November 9.

Also to Mr. and Mrs. Edward McEwen, 327 Hale Street, Pennington, November 10; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lipshitz, 856 Jamestown Road, East Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Palumbo, RD 4, North Brunswick, both on November 11; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Soriero, 4100 Nottingham Way, Trenton, November 12; Mr. and Mrs. Kuang Chang, 45 Slayback Drive, Princeton Junction; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Hulick, 107 Deerwood Drive, Trenton, both on November 13.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael S. Deixler, 12 Starling Road, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Schiebel, 15 James Avenue, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Snyder, 29 Matthew Drive, Hamilton Square, all on November 7; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Donahue, Manlove Avenue, Hightstown; Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Locascio, RD 2, Lambertville; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Matthies, 97K Kandall Road, all on November 9.

Also to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guenzel, 27 Maplestream Road, Hightstown; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tobin, 423 Cummings Avenue, Trenton, both on November 10; Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Monteleone, 135 Villanova Drive, Lawrenceville, November 11.

YWCA PLANS CLINIC For Gymnasts. The YWCA will offer a two-day Holiday Gymnastics Clinic on Friday and Saturday, November 26 and 27, from 9-1 for women and girls ages 6 to adult. The clinic will feature instruction in the four main Olympic events, trampoline and dance for the gymnast. Films and demonstrations by the YWCA Jacquettes Gymnastics

Committeeman Steven Holbrook noted that while Montgomery is in need of a greater industrial base, more time is needed to study the proposal. He pressed for more specific figures on the township's potential cost in taking over the airport and commented that there seemed to be "more risk in the proposition than we have talked about here."

Committeeman R.W. Pauley expressed interest in the concept of a municipal airport and of federal monies for improvement but said that the facility should be limited to small aircraft because of the noise problems that would arise from larger planes. The two recently-elected Republicans who will take their seats in January both urged public hearings on the proposal.

Committeeman J. Grey Jones noted that Mercer County Airport is only a 20-minute drive from Montgomery, an easy commute for businessmen. "It's not clear in my mind whether the community is ready for jets," he added.

Team will be a part of the two day event.

Coaches for the clinic will include Alicia Quinto, Ted Jackson, Linda Wetzel and Patricia DiCocco, all coaches of the Jacquettes Team and formerly with Trenton State College. The fee for the two day clinic is $15, and registrations may be made by calling or coming in to the YWCA office. For further information, call 924-4825 ext 37 between 9 and 5.

TO MAKE JEWELRY

With Children at Library. Betty Ruth Curtiss will give a jewelry making workshop for children Wednesday, December 1, at 1:30 at the public library.

Mrs. Curtiss, who is known for her innovative approaches to jewelry design, will use simple materials to introduce children ages 8-12 to her craft. Registration at the children's desk is limited to 20 on a first come first served basis.

to grant Gibbs & Hill's request for a meeting. Mayor Bleiman questioned whether a meeting now would be appropriate, since any request for use variances would eventually come before Committee, and he repeated this concern Monday night.

"They have made no formal proposal," he told the audience, and then, glancing at the green-treed map, he added, "But we know it's there."

GOHEEN ELECTED
To Head of Foundation.
Robert F. Goheen of 1 Armour Road, chairman of the Council on Foundations, Inc. and former president of Princeton University, has been elected president of The Edna McConnell Clark Foundation, effective January 1.

The announcement was made by James M. Clark, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the $160,000,000 foundation. Mr. Goheen will succeed James F. Henry, who is returning to the practice of law with the firm of Lovejoy, Wasson, Lundgren & Ashton, N.Y.C.

The Edna McConnell Clark Foundation was created by the late W. VanAlen Clark and his wife, Edna McConnell Clark. Mr. Clark, who died two weeks ago at the age of 88, was chairman of the board of Avon Products, Inc. for 18 years and played a leading role in the development of the company to a position of national and international prominence. The foundation is concerned particularly with improving conditions for dispossessed children, the mentally ill, the institutionalized poor, the elderly, the developing world, and other inadequately served elements of society.

Mr. Goheen has been chairman and chief executive officer of the Council on Foundations, a non-profit membership service organization, since October 1972. He was Princeton's president during the previous 15 years, 1957-72.

NEW CO-OP FORMED
To Market Craft Work. A group of the Princeton area's craftsmen have joined together under the name "Transformations" to explore new ways of presenting designer crafts to the public.

A number of projects have been planned, the first of which will be a sale and show held throughout the Christmas season, from November 20 to December 29 in a specially-designed area of the Princeton University Store. The installation will be highlighted by the work of Till Miller, "the Plant Lady."

The name Transformations was chosen because craftsmen transform basic materials such as clay, fiber, wood, stone, and metal into objects of beauty and function. A wide range of work will be presented, including ceramics, weaving, hand spun and naturally-dyed wools, silver jewelry, woven body ornaments, jewelry from found and recycled materials, silk-screened objects and soft-sculpture toys.

The participants are Yvonne Aronson, Connie Bracci - McIndoe, Betty Ruth Curtiss, Helena Fraker, Marilyn Garnick, Ilse Johnson, Gary Kreger, Till Miller, Betty Park, Lucy

CANNED FOODS SOUGHT
For Florence Crittenton Home. The Princeton Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home will conduct its 66th Thanksgiving Food Donation Drive for the Home from Thursday through next Wednesday. Contributions of canned goods and other non-perishable foods will be gratefully received.

Containers will be placed in the Acme Market, A & P, Hill's Market and Nassau Delicatessen. Princeton Day, St. Paul's and Stuart Country Day schools are also participating in the project.

The Home, which is located in Trenton, has been serving the unwed mother for 81 years with no restrictions as to race or creed.

Radio Auction Friday Night Will Aid in Training Of Children with Strong Withdrawal Symptoms

The Eden Institute, housed in the basement of Trinity Church, is a group of determined, energetic and optimistic adults who devote the better part of each day to helping autistic children and their families overcome the effects of one of the severest and most baffling of all mental handicaps.

From the 11-member board of directors largely composed of parents to the 17 staff members and their thoughtful young director, David Holmes, all are working closely together to provide a continuum of services for 23 youngsters from pre-school through adolescence who might otherwise be institutionalized for the excessive withdrawal symptoms they manifest. To assist in its work, the Rotary Club has singled out the Institute to be this year's recipient of the proceeds of a four-hour radio auction Friday evening from 7:30 - 11:30 over WHWH. (See ad on page 5B for details.)

Autistic symptoms may show up at birth in a baby who is unusually agitated, goes rigid when touched, does not respond to the cooing of his mother and shows all the signs of a colicky disposition -- only three times worse and lasting longer than three months. Or autism may appear at age 2 when a toddler who has developed completely normally up to that point suddenly withdraws, loses whatever speech he or she had developed, along with any self-care abilities and even the ability to walk.

Dr. Holmes, who received his Ph.D from Rutgers last spring and who worked for five years with the Princeton Child Development Institute, which takes infants and very young children who are autistic, says that current research seems to indicate that the cause is bio-chemical dysfunction which is perceptual in nature. In addition to severe speech and language problems, autistic children have serious behavior problems and show little or no relation to their environment.

Founded Two Years Ago. Dr. Holmes was asked by a group of parents who were concerned with long-range planning for autistic children to start the Eden Institute. There are currently two programs at work, Day Care for the little ones and Pre-Voc for the older children. Each uses psychology, education, speech, art and music therapies, all working together in the attempt to produce a normal child.

The emphasis with a four-or-five year old child is to get him talking and taking care of himself and his environment before adding some academics. Tangible rewards such as water, juice or bites of crackers are used initially until a child learns that a smile itself is good.

"We have to train kids to do things without thinking," says Dr. Holmes, "such as picking up his foot when a stair is coming. We put two and two together for him over and over again in what we call redundancy for over-learning." Developmental screening devices are used to fill in stages such as crawling that he may have missed.

If at age 11 a child is still talking too poorly and has such limited academic skills that "mainstreaming" him into regular school cannot be considered, he enters the Pre-Voc program. In a room furnished like a home, he learns to make his bed and wash his dishes. In the workshop he learns candlemaking and rolls out simple Christmas cards from woodcarvings. Supplemental academics take the form of learning to sort into piles for mathematics, reading essential signs such as "men," "women," "stop" and "go" and writing his name clearly.

Helping Parents, Too. Parent training and counseling is an essential factor in both programs. Parents come for evening lectures and are taught how to handle problems such as toilet training at home. Another aspect of the program, according to Dr. Holmes, is that it is data based. "We constantly analyze what we are doing so that we can do a better job, making for a lot of paper work."

It costs $8,500 per child for a ten-month session, two thirds of which is reimbursed by the State and the County and the rest provided in fund-raising such as the Rotary-WHWH radio auction. During the summer months, parents pay $55 - $60 per week. Children come in mini-buses, provided by federal aid, from as far away as Hoboken, Neptune and Burlington.

Dr. Holmes is pleased with both programs and with the fact that by its proximity to Rutgers and Princeton, Eden Institute is providing practical hands-on experience for psychology, education and bio-chemistry student volunteers. "We are training future professionals," Dr. Holmes claims, adding that student nurses from Mercer Medical Center are also among the three or four volunteers each day.

Success is thought of as a youngster who progresses. "If you work with them closely and intensively, you can have success," Dr. Holmes maintains. Two children are slotted for "mainstreaming" in September of 1977 and will go into an open class room situation in which they will be with their age group if not working right up to grade level.

Residence Planned. But the concern is always for what is next for those who are not up to dealing with the outside world. The board of directors and Dr. Holmes have worked out a plan for an adolescent group home where eight teenagers would live with two house parents and where there would be a workshop in which they could support themselves. There are funds from the State Division of Family Services to run such a program, but seed money is needed for the down payment on a large house with ample grounds.

If the adolescent residence program is successful, Dr. Holmes would like to see a similar residence program for adults. Last week Eden II started in Staten Island with six children and two teachers plus volunteers from Wagner College.

Meanwhile, back in the rented basement of Trinity Church, the younger children have returned from swimming at the YM-YWCA. The staff talks to them enthusiastically about a field trip the following day to see and ride horses. Eden Institute may not be paradise - there is much hard work involved for everybody - but it represents, as its director hoped, a new direction for the children it helps.

TO HOLD TWO SESSIONS Of Volleyball, Basketball. The Recreation Department plans to split both their women's volleyball program and women's basketball program into two groups.

Volleyball will be divided into two different evenings, with the competitive session being held at Community Park School on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30.

Thursday evenings from 7-8:15 will be reserved for recreationally oriented volleyball.

The Basketball group will be broken down into two groups within one evening's session. Competitive players are asked to come to John Witherspoon School at 7:30 for advanced instruction until approximately 8:15 when they will play choose-up games for the next 45 minutes, space permitting. The beginner group is scheduled to arrive at 8:15 and will receive instruction and playing time until 9:30.

Any women interested in becoming part of either of these programs should contact Denise King at the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

COGITO

SAY: "HAPPY ANNIVERSARY COGITO" (and say it loud)

Why, thank you! It's our anniversary and it just wouldn't have been possible without you. So, thank you, again. You're beautiful — and we love helping to make you the most gorgeous you can be . . . No matter where you're going — we've got the clothes for "where it's at": gauchos, man-tailored suits, coats, dresses, sweaters, skirts — "in" things at 30-50% off prices. . . And, to make our anniversary really festive, we've selected and marked various pieces of fall merchandise at an additional 30-50% off! . . . So, go ahead. Say: "Happy Anniversary Cogito" — and say it loud enough so your friend can hear — she'd probably like to save some money too.

Cogito — for ladies who "think".

IT'S NEW To Us

LA SHACK TO OPEN

This Saturday. Thirteen years ago a Long Island woman started her own store because she believed clothing should be pretty and feminine, reflecting lots of bright colors the year round. Obviously Mary Lou Curtis was right about what women shoppers wanted, because this Saturday here in Princeton La Shack Inc., originally of Locust Valley, opens its seventh store. At this newest location, Mrs. Curtis has formed a partnership with Mary O'Leary and Lucretia Carney, two Princeton women who feel their store will offer this area some new fashions.

OPENING THIS SATURDAY: Busily stocking shelves and completing final touches are Mary O'Leary (left) and Lucretia Carney, partners in Princeton's newest store, Le Shack, which opens this Saturday at 199 Nassau Street.

If you already know La Shack from one of the other stores or, from a Christmas Boutique visit several years ago, you undoubtedly are aware that one of its trademarks is one-of-a-kind clothing. This is true whether it be a t-shirt embroidered with anything you can imagine or a multi-colored hand-woven caftan by Josefa of Mexico.

Personalized sweaters, shirts or even dresses are a specialty here, and you can choose from a series of French proverbs (such as "Oui ne dit mot, consent.") painted frogs and bees, handsome monograms, or whatever your mind can think of. As Mary told us, "It all depends what you want to pay."

The plain t-shirts and scoop-necked sweaters cost $18 and $17 respectively, while a basic long-sleeved long wool dress by Tapemeasure is $68. This is before personalizing which generally adds at least another $10.

Because Mrs. Curtis is not always able to find clothing that meets her fashion concepts, she has had La Shack's design workshop implement many of her feelings. One of the prettiest is a long A-line velvet skirt with black stripes setting off patchwork stripes of bright blue, hot pink and aquamarine squares, $150. Then to complete the picture, she has taken a basic black scoop-necked sweater and trimmed the neckline with three rows of narrow velvet trim to match the patches, $45.

Another outstanding design tops a pair of black evening pants with a slinky black jewel-neck shirt appliqued with silk fabrics depicting a green and white striped tiger jumping in the grass among colorful balloon-type flowers, $75 each.

Personalized Service. Both Mary and Lucretia, who has been a fashion co-ordinator at Bonwit Teller's for the past six years, believe in personalized service, and they are fortunate in appreciating fashion from both a tall and short angle. Lucretia who stands a mere five foot three inches tall says, "It's important to know what looks well on the short person."

From what we saw co-ordinating a group of separates is another strong point here. For instance, by taking two of Mrs. Curtis' basic wrap skirts, they quickly created two different looks. For a dinner party a beautiful mauve velvet was teamed with a simple soft grey angora and lambswool ribbed turtleneck; while for daytime the dark green corduroy one looked great with a tan and green plaid blouse topped by a wheat-colored cable crewneck sweater, $22 to $40 for everything, but the velvet skirt priced at $75.

Princeton is a casual town in its dress, and La Shack also offers brightly colored corduroy pants - which can be easily co-ordinated with a variety of sweaters. An example is a pair of hot pink corduroys which look terrific with a bright green ribbed acrylic turtleneck worn under an Italian sweater of navy, green, white and pink stripes, $17 to $35.

These Italian sweaters are currently one of La Shack's hottest items. They come in at least six different color combinations and go extremely well with pants or skirts, $20.

You'll find something here for everyone, especially as many styles are basics that can be made up in a variety of fabrics. For instance, another of Mrs. Curtis' designs is a long-sleeved scoop-necked long matte jersey dress that is available in prints, solids, or trimmed with a studded design as is the dark blue one on display, $225.

However, we also saw a bright red pair of drawstring pants with a matching cowl-necked top that is quite striking when worn with a short-sleeved fishnet smock, and these separates cost only $12 to $25.

We also liked a soft buff-colored ultra suede skirt, the Herman Geist shirts in marvelous plaids and stripes and an oatmeal cashmere tunic by Tapemeasure.

While the main store is the basic supplier here, Lucretia and Mary plan to include other sources that "fit the lifestyle of the Princeton woman."

All in all, with the bright green rug, yellow and chintz accents, plants, and white wicker and lattice work, the store is unusually cheery; and both women hope you'll find it an inviting place to stop for a cup of coffee and some shopping too. Located at 199 Nassau Street, the opening is this Saturday and the hours are 10 to 5:30.

AMERICAN CRAFTS

At Reasonable Prices. In recent years Hopewell has attracted a growing number of art, craft and antique shops, and last week we came upon one of the newer ones. This is The Featherduster, a store featuring a variety of American crafts at prices that are unusually reasonable.

When Elizabeth and Seth Klevans opened their store last March it was for a two-fold reason - first to satisfy a dream, but second, and more realistically, to provide a retail outlet for the pottery of his sister and brother-in-law.

However, they shortly grew to include additional pottery and other American handcrafts.

The pottery selection is large, and Elizabeth said, "We're sticking with it because that's what people want down here." Understandably, the greatest number of pieces come from the family potters, who work in Maine under the name of Crow Hill Pottery.

Their pieces are wonderfully smooth, extremely useful and generous in size. For instance, there is a set of mixing bowls in a cream glaze with a series of short brown vertical marks decorating the outside, $12 to $22 each, as well as a cream-colored collander that works equally well as a centerpiece filled with fruit, $22.50.

Crow Hill Pottery also makes toothbrush holders (they can be used for small sprays of dried flowers too) a hanging cluster of three small herb pots, and a lovely seven-piece blue and cream tea set that reflects a Japanese influence, $8 to $45.

We also liked Joseph Gonsalves' pottery, which includes some lovely dark brown pierced cachepots with the appearance of delicate latticework, and some small sculptured pieces with a design of leaves and flowers, $10 to $30.

Planters with Saucers. Another potter, Ann Tsubota, makes planters complete with drainage holes and attached saucers so the plant can be placed directly in them. They come in grey or tan glazes over a painted design, and Elizabeth told us, "people quickly buy these up," $5 to $10.

All the pottery is oven and dishwasher proof, and none of the glazes contain any lead. Elizabeth explained that this is why there are very few yellow, green or red pieces in their shop, as lead is generally needed to achieve these colors. Also, if you like a pattern, complete sets of cups, dishes, or whatever can be ordered.

The Klevans believe in knowing their craftspeople personally, and, thus, as they have met more of them, additional crafts have been included in The Featherduster's collection.

We particularly liked the metal sculptures of Walter Marsden Brooks. Once a pipe welder, his work ranges from a small version of the "Spirit of '76" (which happens to be one of the more appealing Bicentennial efforts we've seen) to a handsome spray of copper maple leaves, $15 to $90.

Cradles have a universal appeal, and cabinet-maker Bruce Kunkel has based his on a 17th century Connecticut design with a cut-out heart at either end. He has also made a kitchen cabinet complete with a small drawer and towel rack. Both are in natural pine and cost $225 and $200 respectively.

Then there are the woven pillows and wallhangings, many of which are worked by Elizabeth right in the store. Her smaller pillows, such as a grey tweed one with blue stripes, or a bright green, blue and white one, cost $15.

There are other weavers too, and Nanette Keene is responsible for our favorite piece - a black angora shawl with a wide dark multi-colored stripe down the center and long black fringe at the ends, $50.

Other crafts are patchwork shoulder bags, brightly colored felt muppet puppets, wooden wine racks, and jewelry which includes a large group of highly polished slices of agates or stones on liquid silver chains, $6.50 each. The other crafts are priced from approximately $9 to $24.

Located at 33 Railroad Place in Hopewell, The Featherduster is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 until 5.

ENGAGEMENTS

Bradley-Cox. Margaret A. Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Bradley of Parkersburg, Va., to Thomas R. Cox Jr., formerly of Princeton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Cox of Raleigh, N.C. A March wedding is planned.

The couple were both graduated from the University of Miami School of Law in Coral Gables, Fla. in May of this year. Ms. Bradley completed her undergraduate work at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and subsequently lived in the Republic of the Philippines as a Peace Corps volunteer for two years. She is currently associated with the law firm of Love Wise Robinson & Woodrow of Charlestown, W. Va., where the couple expect to make their home.

Mr. Cox graduated from the University of Virginia in Charlottesville, Va., and received his master's degree in business administration at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Mass. He is currently employed as a hearing officer for the North Carolina Board of Alcoholic Control.

Wentz-Wadman. Karen J. Wentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Robinson Wentz of Severna Park, Md., to Laurence J. Wadman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence E. Wadman Jr. of 26 Norchester Drive, Princeton Junction. A January wedding is planned. Both are seniors at the University of Delaware. Miss Wentz is a graduate of Severna Park High School, Mr. Wadman of Princeton High School.

Chomenko-Kiena. Olga Chomenko, of North Brunswick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chomenko of Jamesburg, to Boris Kiena, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kiena of 14 Cambridge Road, Kendall Park. A February wedding is planned.

Miss Chomenko graduated from Trenton State College with a B.S. in business education. She is teaching at North Brunswick Township High School and attending Trenton State College. Mr. Kiena attended Steven's Institute of Technology and is a systems analyst for Application General Corporation in Princeton.

Henschel-Turner. Holly E. Henschel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henschel of 29 Westcott Boulevard, Pennington, to Dr. N. Fletcher Turner 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Fletcher Turner Jr., of 17 West Delaware Avenue, Pennington. A spring wedding is planned.

Miss Henschel attended New York law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell and is a member of the Bronxville Junior League.

Mr. Bush, an alumnus of the University of Vermont, is president of the Bronxville Camera Corp.

Buy Stereo You Can Be Proud Of.

Most people own stereo sets they're not particularly proud of.

If you've ever wondered where to go to get stereo that looks and sounds impressive, without a price tag that is oppressive, come to the Tech Hifi store near you.

In our listening rooms you'll hear how much sound you can get for your money.

For the price of a cheap-sounding compact set, you can buy well-known stereo components at Tech Hifi. For example, if your budget is around $370, you can buy a system with KLH 101 loudspeakers, Garrard 440M automatic turntable, and famous Pioneer 450 am/fm stereo receiver (only $369 this week).

What's more, Tech Hifi gladly accepts Mastercharge and BankAmericard. So you won't have to save up for a long time to buy stereo, if you buy it from Tech Hifi.

Join the 500,000 people who are proud of the stereo they bought. At Tech Hifi.

BUSINESS

In and Around Princeton

FROM WEST GERMANY... To Pennington. In a move of importance in the world of both art and industry, West Germany's W. Goebel Porzellanfabrik, manufacturers of the famous "M.I. Hummel" figurines and plates, has established its first production facility in the United States with the acquisition of the Pennington studio of celebrated porcelain sculptor Laszlo Ispanky. With Governor Brendan T. Byrne officiating last week at the opening day ceremony, Ulrich Stocke, president and co-owner of the Goebel Group of Enterprises, announced that the Goebel-Ispanky union will form the basis of a new company division, Goebel Crafts of North America. "Our company," said Mr. Stocke, who journeyed from Rodental, West Germany, to preside over the event, "makes thousands of different items that are sold in over 80 countries, but never before have we produced anything outside of Europe. The artistry of Ispanky, however, combined with the increasing importance of America as a market for our products, make this amalgamation a key venture for us." Known throughout the world of art as "the Living Master," Laszlo Ispanky fled his native Hungary in the wake of the 1956 revolution and established his porcelain studio in 1966. Under his guidance, skilled and talented artisans have been producing porcelain sculptures in limited editions that range in price from $350 to $35,000, and Ispanky pieces are prized in the collections of Princess

Grace of Monaco, The Vatican, Princess Christina of Sweden, the Brooklyn Museum, and others. His unlimited-edition porcelains are offered gift shops and galleries throughout the world at prices ranging from $35 to $200—"and will be even more widely available with the Goebel Crafts of North America name upon them," commented Mr. Ispanky. The opening day celebration was also attended by several hundred representatives from leading department stores, gift shops, museums, art galleries, and business corporations.

DIRECTORS NAMED To Chamber Board. The Chamber of Commerce has announced the election of new members to the board of directors for 1977. They are John Bernard of Sturhahn, Dickenson & Bernard; Paul R. Cheseboro, Foundation Managers, Inc.; Martha Fletcher, First National Bank of Princeton; Harry Heher Jr., attorney; Don Hess, Shell Chemical Company; Joel Larsen, General Business Services; Herbert Mihan, The English Shop; Harvey Myers, architect; Sue Rock, Princeton Public Library; Audrey Short, Audrey Short, Inc.; Bob Stahl, McGraw Hill, Inc. and James Stewart III, Princeton Bank and Trust Company. They join those who have been serving on the board: Stuart Bellows of Bellows; E.O. Cole of E.R. Squibb & Sons, Inc.; A.C. Reeves Hicks, Cahill, McCarthy & Hicks; John F. Hoff III, First National Bank of Princeton; John R. Lasley, Opinion Research Corporation; James O'Connor, The Nassau Inn; Will Reed, Princeton University; Edward Salkind, Astro Publications, Inc.; Jonathan Thiesmeyer, Western Electric Company; H. Barton Thomas, Merrill Lynch; Leslie T. Vivian Jr., Princeton University; and Jane D. Wirsig, Educational Testing Service.

WINS 6TH PATENT For Measuring Device, Laury S. Watkins, of 10 Crusher Road, Hopewell, a member of the research staff at Western Electric's Engineering Research Center, has received his sixth U.S. Patent. The invention relates to methods for measuring the parameters of an optical fiber. Dr. Watkins received his Ph.D. in Electronics from Southampton University in England.

Ground Broken for New Office Building at Forrestal Center

Business in Princeton

Prudential Insurance Company of America held ground-breaking ceremonies on Tuesday for an office building at the Princeton Forrestal Center, the 1600-acre complex being developed by Princeton University on Route 1, adjoining its research campus. The Prudential structure will be a three-story building containing 18,000 square feet on each level. The construction will be highlighted by 10-foot wide pre-cast buff-colored concrete panels which will act as sun shades for tinted insert windows.

The heating and air-conditioning systems are multi-modular, allowing for individual temperature control in each working area of the building. The building was designed by Brown and Matthews, Inc. of Cranford, which also won the general construction contract.

The Prudential structure, which will be part of the insurance company's real estate investment portfolio, will be leased to corporations desiring the advantages of the Princeton Forrestal Center. Baker Merin Associates of West Orange will be the exclusive leasing agent.

Prudential is the third organization to make a commitment to the innovative project. Ground was broken recently for a new headquarters for Mainstem, Inc., and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation already has its headquarters in operation.

The Princeton Forrestal Center was initiated as a means of coordinating residential and office-research growth in the area, consistent with the region's environmental quality. The first phase of the project will extend over a period of eight years with approximately 500 acres to be retained as open green space.

NAMED DIRECTOR

Of Squibb Department. Miguel A. Ondetti, Ph.D., of 79 Hemlock Circle has been appointed director of the newly-created department of biological chemistry at The Squibb Institute for Medical Research. The department will work closely with all departments in The Institute on the study of novel approaches to drug design.

A native of Argentina, Dr. Ondetti earned his Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the University of Buenos Aires Faculty of Sciences in 1957 and for the following three years was associated with The Squibb Institute in Argentina. While in Argentina, he was also a professor of chemistry at the Catholic Institute for Teachers and an instructor of organic chemistry at the University of Buenos Aires.

In 1960, he was named a senior research scientist at The Squibb Institute in the United States, and in 1966 was appointed research supervisor of synthetic polypeptides in the department of organic chemistry. From 1973 on he was section head for antibiotics and steroid research.

AWARDED FOUR PATENTS

For Plastic Plating Process. Four patents expected to reduce the cost and improve the reliability of plated plastic parts, printed circuit boards for the electronics, automotive, plumbing, toy and furniture industries have been granted by the U.S. Patent Office to Surface Technology, Inc. of Route 1.

The firm specializes in plating technology for the electronics industry, including semiconductors and printed circuit boards. The patents were issued to Dr. Nathan Feldstein, 63 Hemlock Circle, president of Surface Technology, Inc., and are also under patent protection in key industrial nations.

ability, commendable qualities and the respect she commands throughout the community, the Committee's newest appointee to the Planning Board is not so identified.

At the moment there are no other Planning Board vacancies, but one or more may well occur between now and January 1. I believe the voters are entitled to reassurance that should those vacancies occur, they will be filled by members committed to planning for the necessary growth (essential to keeping in Princeton our older people, young ones who grew up here, our lower income residents, teachers, public servants, and all others contributing to the flavor and diversity of Princeton) BALANCED WITH vital, in-depth attention to environmental considerations.

I had hoped that the future Mayor's seat on the Board and the new vacancy just filled would have answered this need. For the reasons mentioned above I do not feel that an adequate start in this direction has yet been made, and I am afraid of what may come with other possible last-minute appointment.

My own belief in non-partisanship has carried through to my minority role on Committee, particularly in the matter of Democratic appointments and during the long and difficult period of Township Committee's empty fifth seat when avoidance of any semblance of obstructionism in the orderly conduct of Township affairs was essential to public confidence.

These however have gained no support among Democratic members of Committee for my proposals last spring and summer for the appointment to the governing body's Planning Board seat. This brings me to the point of this admittedly somewhat partisan expression of my views.

One argument against my earlier proposal while Township Committee was still evenly divided politically, was that the seat was the "political plum" for the majority party. Majority when? Past or future? Appointed or elected? Who now has the "plum"?

Boutique Is Successful.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The community served by the Medical Center at Princeton has long supported the benefits planned and executed by its Auxiliary. This year's Christmas Boutique was no exception.

We wish to thank TOWN TOPICS for its excellent coverage of our benefit. The entire Princeton area benefits when the hospital which serves it so well is supported at events of this kind.

We are also deeply grateful to all those who attended and donated both time and money to a good cause which was also fun.

News Of The CHURCHES

CHOIR JOINS CLERGY
In Mass at Chapel. The clergy of the Aquinas Institute will be joined in a celebrated Mass by the choir of All Saints' Episcopal Church on Sunday at 4:45 in the Princeton University Chapel. The ceremony, which will mark the Feast of Christ the King, is one of the regular Roman Catholic services held weekly at the Chapel during the academic year.

Officiating at the Mass will be the Rev. Charles B. Weiser, who will also deliver the homily; the Rev. Andrew Kelly, S.J., and the Rev. John Piderit, S.J. A reception for the choir and those attending the service will be held at Murray Dodge Hall following the ceremony.

The 30-member choir of All Saints' is under the direction of David Agler, who is also general director of the Spoleto, Italy, music festival. Among the selections which the choir will offer are William Walton's Missa Brevis and 16th century motets by Giovanni Palestrina and by the English composer Orlando Gibbons.

There will be a short organ recital by Mrs. Nancianne Parrella, assistant director of music at All Saints' and a member of the music faculty at Princeton High School. Mrs. Parrella will play the Choral varie sur Veni Creator by Maurice Durufle and the Toccato in F Major of J.S. Bach.

THANKSGIVING PLANS
At Christian Science Church. Thanksgiving Day services at Churches of Christ, Scientist, on November 25, will include Scriptural readings and testimonials. As is traditional at these services, Bible examples of lives uplifted and healed through obedience to God, will be emphasized.

The morning's readings will include a passage from II Corinthians: "God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work"; and from the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds."

The service at First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 16 Bayard Lane, begins at 11 and will include the Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States. First Reader, Anthony W.R. Coomber, and Second Reader, Mrs. Jeanne M. Miller, will conduct the worship service,

Thanksgiving Service Set
Under the auspices of the Interfaith Council, there will be a Community Thanksgiving Day Service Thursday, November 25, at 11 in the Princeton University Chapel. The service will attempt to bring together the various religious communions in the community, while preserving the distinctiveness of each.

The speaker will be the Rev. Allen A. Gartner, president of the Pastors' Association and pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah. His topic will be "Sacrifices of Thanksgiving."

The offering will be shared by the chaplaincy committee of Princeton Medical Center to aid in the chaplaincy program, by World Hunger through CROP, and by the Pastors' Association relief fund.

which also includes testimonies by Christian Scientists appropriate for the occasion. All are welcome, and child care will be provided.

CHOIR TAKES TRIP
To Sing in Washington Cathedral. Trinity Church's Choir of Men, Boys and Girls has been asked to present a Prelude Concert before Evensong in Washington Cathedral on Sunday and to join the cathedral choir in singing Evensong following the concert. The 50-voice choir will spend the weekend in the Washington area and will also sing two Sunday morning services in the colonial Pohick Church in Lorton, Va.

The concert and service at the cathedral is part of a year long celebration of the opening of the great cathedral nave. During the concert, the choir will sing works by Schutz, Durufle, Howells and Birstow, and the combined choirs will sing works by Leighton and Michael Tippett during the service. The choral works will be conducted by James Litton, organist and director of music at Trinity, and Paul Callaway, organist and choirmaster of Washington Cathedral.

In addition to the Washington trip, the choir will make two additional tours during the coming season. In January a five day tour to Pittsburgh, Ohio and West Virginia will include four concerts and two workshops, and the choir has been asked to present a concert at Yale University in March.

The Trinity Choir of Men, Boys and Girls is part of a multi-choir music program at Trinity Church. The choir sings at Trinity during each Sunday's 11:15 service as well as for several concerts in the Princeton area each season.

EXPERT TO SPEAK
On Arab-Israeli Relations. Ami Ayalon, research associate at the Shiloah Institute for Middle East and African Studies at Tel Aviv University in Israel, will speak after Friday evening services at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street. His talk is entitled "Reflections on the Arab-Israeli Conflict from 1973 to the Present."

Services begin at 8:15 p.m. and will be followed at about 8:45 to 9:00 by Kiddush (refreshments), Mr. Ayalon's talk, and a question-and-answer session. The public is cordially invited to attend the service and this first lecture in the fall series sponsored by the adult education committee of the Center

BULLETIN NOTES
The Missionary Society of First Baptist Church will hold a Bazaar Saturday, December 4, beginning at 10 in the lower auditorium of the church on John and Avalon Street. There will be baked goods, toys and other good items. For more information call 924-0877.

Dr. Kenneth M. Casebeer will lecture on "The Quinlan Case and Its Aftermath" Tuesday at 7:30 in Princeton Seminary's campus center auditorium. The presentation is the eighth of the bioethics series made available to the public by the Seminary this season.

Dr. Casebeer is a visiting legal research scholar at the Kennedy Institute, Georgetown University, from which he graduated magna cum laude in 1971.

Dr. Karlfried Froehlich, a member of the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary since 1968, made his inaugural address as professor of the history of the early and Medieval Church recently in Miller Chapel. The title of his discourse was Church History and the Bible."

Fresh homemade cakes, cookies, pies and rolls will be sold Tuesday and Wednesday by the A & P in the Princeton Shopping Center as a benefit for the First Baptist Church Women's Day Fund. Mrs. Ida B. Dixon is chairman, the Rev. Edward Smith is pastor of the church.

A LIVING DOLL HOUSE

Chock full of appeal, shiny clean, and neat as a pin from top to bottom, this 3 - or possibly 4 - bedroom Cape Cod has just about everything a family of 3 or 4 - or possibly 5 - could want! Living room with beamed ceiling and fireplace, kitchen, adjoining breakfast room with wet bar, 3 bedrooms (one on first floor), den or 4th bedroom, 2 baths, enclosed porch -- all are delightful; but the highlight has to be the surprisingly spacious dining room opening on a greenhouse! There's a good basement too, with workshop space, laundry tub, and possible play area. All on a lovely, low-care acre complete with brook and birdcover, and backed by old woods. This LIGHT listing is really a bright one! $79,500

FOR RENT: Two Pennington houses. One 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, part furnished. $500. Other: 2 bedrooms, 2 baths. $350.

FOR RENT: CHARMING 19th CENTURY HOUSE, DELIGHTFULLY FURNISHED: 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths. Central air, lovely grounds with privacy Kingston. Available now $600/month

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

Serenity is the keynote of this spacious house with living all on one floor. The property is magnificently landscaped and surrounded with a veritable forest of greenery. Delightful privacy.

Entry foyer opens to large living room with fireplace, a dining or study, and the bedroom wing. There are two large bedrooms, a full bath and a powder room, plus additional room for expansion. The kitchen with informal eating area opens to a huge screened porch overlooking the green lawns and forest.

A beautiful property now available at $107,000

Imagine breakfasting in a lush, year round subtropical garden ... right in your own home. We've seen many a house with inside planters, but never one actually built around a garden. The cathedral ceilinged living room, dining room, kitchen and entry all open directly to this central skylighted garden.

Also on this level is a master bedroom with super dressing room and bath.

Curving steps go down between rocks and foliage to the children's level with three more bedrooms and bath and a TV room which also opens to the garden.

This sleek, contemporary house is now under construction on a 4.5 acre lot with trees and a lovely view.

Wonder what the outside looks like? Call us. $125,000

RENTAL $550 PER MONTH

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP

In the attractive Elm Ridge Park area, King's Grant is happy to offer an exquisitely maintained contemporary house ideal for the active growing family.

On the principal floor the living, dining, and kitchen-breakfast areas are glazed to a magnificent woods and water view to charming Honey Brook Lake.

The lower floor contains a large open family playroom complete with open hearth, as well as a cozy private and quiet den. There are a total of six bedrooms, two full and two half baths in this unusual King's Grant offering. $192,500

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP

Just reaching completion in the superb Elm Ridge Park section, a two-story traditional house of brick and cedar shakes. The central entrance foyer opens to spacious living and dining rooms, and kitchen with informal dining area. Beyond is a large family room with fireplace and a private study or office. There are five family bedrooms, one is huge, a veritable childrens dormitory. This house is ideal for the growing, active family, it is priced at $149,500

Investment Property - Princeton Township

These are four adjoining row houses in an established neighborhood. Each house consists of 4 or 5 rooms including new kitchens and tiled baths, new wiring and copper plumbing. Standard frame construction, asphalt roofing, hot air heat fueled by oil. A fine investment opportunity, for details contact King's Grant Real Estate. Present owner is asking $84,900

West Windsor

Here is a handsomely maintained traditional house on a ¾ acre plot in West Windsor's choicest locations.

The house is but two years old, frame construction with cedar shingles. The center hall opens to formal living and dining rooms and a delightful family room adjacent to the country kitchen and powder room. Upstairs are the four bedrooms and two full baths. Now available at $75,000

AN ARCHITECT'S CREATIVE HAND plus the owner's thoughtful care have been here combined to give this sparkling Cape Cod a contemporary interior with a great feeling of light and space. An entry porch leads to a double level dining room and kitchen with oversized windows looking to the garden; a unique lighting system, multiple formica counters and cabinets, an unusual simulated quarry tile floor; A living room with redesigned fireplace, two bedrooms, full tile bath, complete the first floor. Upstairs, a master bedroom 18 x 20, full tile bath, and additional bedroom 11'8 x 20. Full, very dry basement with finished panelled playroom, work space, and bath roughed-in. Attached garage. Lovely fenced yard and carefully tended trees and shrubs. $89,500

BUILT FOR THE TRI-CENTENNIAL. This fine stone house in the Borough's Western Section will still be solid and attractive for years to come. Gracious entry hall, plus generous sized living room, dining room and study, all with fireplaces; glassed-in heated sun porch; kitchen, lavatory. Six bedrooms (three with fireplaces) three baths on second floor, plus two bedrooms, new bath and playroom on third. Lovely gardens, several terraces, and much more. On almost an acre within easy walking distance of everything. $250,000

THE INFINITE VARIETY of this lovely Country Place is a wonder - a charming restored 19th century Colonial with ten rooms, two and one half baths, screened porch; three car garage, huge dairy barn, silo, etc. One hundred six acres of high rolling land for investment, and a farming operation; lovely two acre pond, plus nine hundred feet of frontage on a scenic river; more than two thousand feet of road frontage for future development; large assumable land bank mortgage to a qualified buyer. All located near Neshanic, just a few minutes north of Princeton. $325,000

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A TREASURE? - If Capt. Hook were alive today, I'm sure we would not be able to offer this! Over 150 years ago in East Amwell on the land mark commonly known as "Three Brothers Rock" (where Jumor has it there is buried treasure) a lovely Colonial home was built with all the charm of that era. Down through the years, this home with an original old fieldstone fireplace and old large beams grew into the charming, restored Colonial that it is today. Call us to see our "Treasure". Priced in the low "Seventies"!!

I'M THE BUY FOR 1976 - My owner has moved and I need a family -- YOURS! I'm a four bedroom COLONIAL in West Windsor and these are some of my extras: Ceiling fixtures in the bedrooms, a gas starter to help my white brick fireplace get a start, central air, panelled family room, formal dining room, large eat-in kitchen, separate laundry room, a brick patio and so much more that, priced at $66,500, you'll have to see me to believe me. You're special and so am I, so let's get together.

GET OUT OF TOWN - Everyone loves the country and this is your chance! Stop wishing and start moving to get this four bedroom home. Central air for summer comfort. Immediate Occupancy!! $63,900

WITH A LITTLE BIT OF LUCK THIS MAY TURN OUT TO BE YOUR DREAM HOME The owner's in a hurry wants to sell fast that may be your good luck. Look at it today! $57,000

THE BEST BUY ON THE MARKET? You decide! Three bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, living room, dining room, family room, lovely yard. Many extras and so much convenience 'cause it's located in West Windsor. Priced to sell at $49,900

WRAP THIS UP FOR XMAS! — Beautifully wooded building lot waiting for new home. Two plus acres with 350' of frontage. $19,800

Lucy Caldwell's Book on Her Years in Vietnam To Raise Funds for Disabled Marine Veterans

"What Am I Doing on This Chopper?"
 "Home-made Cake for 80"
 "Orchid-Flavored Eggs"
 "Turn the Lights Down and the Music Up"

Chapter-headings like these will draw you irresistibly into "Sin One Way Economy Class" and, though she deprecates herself and her part in it all, a delightful acquaintanceship with the author, Lucy Caldwell — the lady who made Vietnam endurable.

"Sin One Way Economy Class?" What kind of title is that?

"Sin", of course, is airline-ese for "Singapore," Mrs. Caldwell explains. "The title is taken from my boarding pass — I was going economy class — and I was going one-way."

She was going to Vietnam, where she spent 34 months in Saigon and Danang, working for the USO and in the intensive-care wards of the Naval Hospital. Broken by a few essential periods of rest and recreation, her tour of duty lasted from 1966 to 1971.

Big Advance Sale. Lucy Caldwell has finally written down her experiences, and her book, "Sin One Way Economy Class," is now finished and ready to go. She had 4,000 copies privately printed, and some 2,300 of them have already been sold. They cost $2.50 each, paperback only, and except for a few which will be at The Town Shop on Palmer Square, you can buy them only from Mrs. Caldwell, 20 College Road West.

From each sale, $2 will go into a trust fund to be administered by a bank in Boston. It will lie untouched for ten years. It will then be turned over to the Third Marine Division Reserve for the benefit of men who were critically disabled in Vietnam.

"Money needn't go directly to the veteran," Mrs. Caldwell explains "it might be needed for a child's education, or for an amputee whose wounds are giving him more trouble as he grows older. The idea behind the ten-year wait is that the men may need the money more then than they do now."

"Princeton people were quite unbelievable, quite remarkable in those years," Mrs. Caldwell recalls, her animation and enthusiasm vividly reflected in her vividly blue eyes.

"It was the first community to differentiate between the war and the men. There are still very few books that tell how great the men were, and families of men wounded or killed in action are hungry for this. Instead, there are books about 'murderers', and so on. My book has nothing to do with whether the war was right or wrong. It has to do with humans."

"The Men I Knew." "I'm only the cement!" she laughs. "I try to tell the story of the men I knew — how the Marines took over a large orphanage in '65 when they landed, ran it, gave it money. I remember seeing the children in that orphanage just pour out the door to hug the men."

"These men gave, they cared, they built schools and hospitals and not simply because their officers told them to. They gave parties for the orphans with ice-cream, hamburgers. They were simply wonderful."

Without professional training — "I had nothing — absolutely zilch — nothing except the desire" — Lucy Caldwell set forth for Hong Kong to see whether she could get into Vietnam. Nothing doing.

She then flew to Bangkok. Dead end. But she did meet a Dutch banker who advised her, "Go!", and so she went, on a six-day visa, to Saigon.

"A man on the plane found me a dive to live in, and I walked around Saigon, wondering where I could help. I saw a USO sign and asked them what I could do. Sort mail, they told me, and extended my visa 60 days.

Annual Salary: $1.25. "I came back home after that, and I found I would need a paid job in order to return. A friend offered to pay me $1 a year — with 25 cents extra for working in a combat area — and I went back. Nobody ever said I was over-paid!"

The man who paid Mrs. Caldwell's munificent salary was a friend of her late husband, Charles Caldwell, Princeton University's football coach from 1945 to 1957.

"The men I saw — so many of them never had a chance to get out of going. They weren't students, their families didn't know how to keep them out of the military. I found that one-fourth of them NEVER heard from home. They could read only comic books mostly."

"Many had never seen a Christmas present. One I remember so well. A Marine, he'd lost both feet. His father had abandoned his mother, his older brother only went home to beat his mother and make her give him money for dope, the mother had had three cancer operations, the sister had been injured at birth."

First of its Kind. "Well, I had lots of transistor radios to give. I wrapped one in the prettiest kind of paper with lots of ribbons, and a card with the name of the donor. He just looked at this package: 'I never had a wrapped-up present,' he said."

"About three months later, I ran into him again at the hospital, and he was sitting in his wheel-chair with the radio, the wrappings, the card, the ribbons were all neatly there. He'd kept them all."

Mrs. Caldwell looked quickly through a folder and smilingly brought out a birth announcement. This was from still another wounded Marine, this one blinded with a missing foot. The announcement had a photograph of the blind Marine, holding his new-born son. The mother was a girl he married after he returned, blinded and wounded, to the States.

In Saigon in those years, Mrs. Caldwell worked days at the USO, nights in the intensive care ward of the hospital.

"Your emotions wear thin," she says with a brief smile.

During her months in Vietnam, Mrs. Caldwell wrote and wrote — to all her friends and acquaintances. Physicians and corpsmen wrote to their friends and acquaintances, and the support was over-whelming.

Widespread Response. "Two counties in Wyoming — Sheridan and Johnson — sent us 300 pounds of cookies every month for five years! We received playing cards, poker-chips, writing pads, pencils and ballpoint pens, money...

The military found even more for Lucy Caldwell to do. She visited units as a morale-builder, taking the poker-chips and cards, and her own high-spirited warmth.

In August, 1968, Mrs. Caldwell was the second recipient of the Dickey

News Of The THEATRES

STILLS, FOLLOWED BY....
Clarke, Snow, Ronstadt.
Pop audiences who check in this Friday with Stephen Stills, can move on to Stanley Clarke, who will play Alexander Hall on Wednesday, December 1 at 7:30 p.m. as soloist with his own band.

Then, on Saturday, December 4, Phoebe Snow will make her Princeton debut, performing in Alexander Hall at 7:30 and 11 p.m. She'll be followed by Linda Ronstadt, sometimes called one of the First Ladies of contemporary American pop music. Linda who did a sell-out concert at McCarter in the spring of 1975, will play Dillon gym this time, making her only New Jersey appearance of the fall season on Saturday, December 11 at 8 p.m.

NEXT ON THE PROGRAM...
"...Tribades." Opening night will be Thursday, December 2, for "The Night of the Tribades," third in this season's repertory offerings at McCarter.

The young contemporary Scandinavian writer Per Olov Enquist is the playwright, McCarter's producing director Michael Kahn is the director.

The play deals with the relationship between August Strindberg, the Swedish playwright, his estranged wife, Siri and her lesbian friend, Marie Caroline David. The play is based on actual biographical material from the lives of Strindberg and his wife.

Executive Needed

Street Theatre needs a new executive director for the 1976-77 season. The theatre is looking for someone with a background in theatre, to help with administrative, directorial and teaching projects for the coming year.

Street Theatre, a community project in the dramatic arts, has drawn its financial support from the Princeton Youth Fund, the YM-YWCA, the Joint Recreation Department, the Princeton Arts Council and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

During the winter months, students participate in workshops held at Dorothea House, and in the spring, they usually go on tour, performing in schools. This coming spring, they will present "Fractured Fairy Fables" to young audiences.

Those who are interested are invited to call Francia White, 466-0343 or Debbie Bellow, 921-8826.

is essentially a fantasy it nonetheless manages to portray the absurdity and underlying destructiveness of the era to great effect.

True to the fairy-tale framework, Allen not only manages to bluff his way through script conferences and gain the love of an attractive left-leaning intellectual but becomes transformed. From a self-serving nebbish, he blossoms into a noble and courageous man of principle, telling the House Un-American Activities Committee to go jump, and then marching off triumphantly to jail on a proudly-earned contempt citation.

Far from diluting the witch hunt mentality of the period, the pervasive good humor of the film is no less informative than any grim documentary. Behind the laughs and the one-liners, there is much that is unsettling.

PRINCE

Marathon Man. Somewhere at the core of "Marathon Man" is an ingenious, offbeat suspense thriller struggling to break out of its over-embellished cocoon and get down to business. Seldom has such topflight acting and production been labored on such a potboiler.

Dustin Hoffman is an athletic Columbia graduate student -- the athlete of the title -- who innocently becomes involved with Laurence Olivier, an infamous Nazi concentration camp dentist into a grisly battle to the death. Murder and blood abounds. The violence is graphic and relentless.

The film represents a gamble -- using an eminently serious director, John Schlesinger, to spin an escapist thriller that could have been parcelled out to any lower-eschelon hack and filmed as quickly and cheaply as the material deserved. It ultimately works, but only as a thriller.

Olivier plays the most villainous character of his career with enormous intensity. Hoffman's performance is superb, proving again that there isn't any role that he can't master.

The New York run will be a showcase production, geared towards attracting producers and agents. Potential backers with an interest in optioning the work have been invited.

The George Street Playhouse is a professional theater that has grown steadily since its inception in 1974 and is attaining the regional theater status that has been its goal. Interest in the Playhouse presently comes from a large area, with reviewers from New York and Philadelphia regularly attending performances.

"Brothers" will play on Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30 until December 4. For reservations or information call the Playhouse at 246-7717. The George St. Playhouse is located at 414 George Street in New Brunswick. Ample parking is available nearby.

MUSIC

In Princeton

GLOBOLINKS ARE COMING
To John Witherspoon School. A school bus full of children disappears. A school principal, deaf as a hard-boiled egg, must learn to sing "la" or suffer dire consequences.

A pupil armed only with a violin repulses an invasion from outer space. A music teacher, in despair because her pupils won't practice, is finally vindicated.

These are a few of the scenes from Gian Carlo Menotti's "Help, Help the Globolinks," written for children and those who like children. Commissioned by the State Opera of Hamburg, the work had its world premiere there in 1968 on a double bill with the perennially popular "Amahl and the Night Visitors," also by Menotti.

Spooky electronic music, weird lighting, eerie costumes and other special effects will add to the mysterious atmosphere that will be created by the Princeton Opera Association with the assistance of the Princeton Ballet Company at the John Witherspoon School, Saturday, December 4, (1:30 and 3:15) in the area's first production of "Help, Help the Globolinks!" Tickets at $1.50 and $3 at the door, day of performance or seats may be reserved in advance...call 924-3391.

TWO CONCERTS PLANNED

By Friends of Music. Catherine Caldicott, soprano, and Pamela Barr, cello, will each give a concert this weekend sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton.

Miss Caldicott will perform Scarlatti's "Su Le Sponde Del Tebro," a solo cantata for voice with violins and trumpet

Saturday at 8:30 in the Woolworth Center Rehearsal room. Assisting her will be Princeton University students Clark Reed and Rick Perles, violins, Emily Swartzentruber, cello, Lance Knobel, trumpet and James Schultz, harpsichord. She will also perform works by Brahms, Liszt, Szymanowski and Ives, accompanied by Kathleen Connolly, pianist.

Miss Barr will give her recital Sunday at 3, also in Woolworth Center, and will perform an American program of works by Ernest Block, David Baker, Samuel Barber and Aaron Copland. She received her master of music degree last year from New England Conservatory, where she was a member of the Conservatory Symphony Orchestra and principal cellist with the Cape Cod Symphony for the 1975-76 season. She was also a winner in the concerto competition of the Rome Festival Orchestra in Italy in January of this year and has toured with the New England Sinfonia.

Miss Caldicott is a junior at Princeton studying voice with Shirlee Emmons. She is a soloist with the Chapel Choir and a member of the Katzenjammers singing group and gave a concert with Scitia Macrae in December of last year. Both concerts are free and open to the public.

VIOLINIST TO PLAY

In Recital Sunday, Nadia Koutzen, concert violinist of Walnut Lane, will give a recital Sunday at 8:30 in Procter Hall at the Graduate College. She is well known to Princeton audiences for her performances, her work with the University's Chapel Choir and Glee Club and her annual appearances in the school system.

Miss Koutzen has toured Europe in recitals in major cities and has been soloist with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra. She has also been concert master-soloist for several Ballet companies on National tours such as The Pennsylvania Ballet and The Russian Bolshoi Ballet, in the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center for the Stuttgart Ballet and just this month, for the Netherlands National Ballet at the Minskoff Theatre in New York.

Miss Koutzen's program will be exclusively unaccompanied Bach; the two Sonatas in G minor and A minor and the Partita in E major. The concert is open to the public, and no admission will be charged.

EARLY MUSIC IS FOCUS

Of Consort Concert. Music of Early America will be presented by the Cranbury Consort at the Mercer County Community College Kelsey Theatre Sunday at 3. The Consort consists of four musicians, William Darst, Larry and Florence Ketzbecker and Donovan Klotzbecker who will present a program which includes soprano and baritone voices, the classical guitar, Baroque recorders, Baroque violin and the 18th century harpsichord.

In capturing the feeling of musical America around 1776, the Consort will present a series of ballads for voice and guitar, a minuet played on the harpsichord and danced by a gentleman and his lady, a trio sonata by Handel for alto recorder, violin and continue and music by two of the first American composers, William Billings and Francis Hopkinson. Musical and historical narrative are reinforced with an element of pageantry so that the program is interesting musically as well as historically.

For ticket information call 586-4800, ext. 285. General admission is $3, MCCC alumni $2, students $1 and senior citizens free.

CONCERT POSTPONED

To Early January. The first concert this season by the Princeton University Chamber Chorus, conducted by Professor of Music Walter Nollner, which was originally scheduled for Friday evening in Alexander Hall has been postponed to Thursday, January 6.

The same program will be performed, Debussy "Chansons," Bach "Coffee Cantata," English madrigals, and Brahms "Zigeunerlieder." The concert will begin at 8:30 in Alexander Hall and will be open to the public without charge.

AN APPLE PEELER carved from wood by Fumio Yoshimura will be on exhibition at Squibb Gallery through December 12 with other pieces of the artist's work. He will be at the gallery this Thursday from 5 to 7 and the public is invited to meet him when the exhibit opens.

NEW EXHIBIT TO OPEN

Japanese Works in Wood. Squibb Gallery will open an exhibition of wood sculptures and drawings by Fumio Yoshimura this Thursday, November 18. The Gallery will be open from 9 to 9 its new Thursday hours, and the exhibit will continue through Sunday, December 12.

The collection, on loan from several private collectors and galleries, was arranged through the courtesy of Marian Locks Gallery, Philadelphia.

Yoshimura carves ordinary objects like bicycles and tomato plants, sunflowers and sewing machines from wood in such detail that a viewer sees the objects with a greater appreciation of their design. He is a master carver with a fresh eye for artistic presentation.

The Artist's Philosophy. A Yoshimura sculpture often prompts the question, "How can he do that?" The artist responds, "There is difficulty with every piece and I am working all the time to think how to make something. There is no way to plan it all so I just say 'Go ahead and fail,' and I start."

"After I am halfway into the work, my mind and body are conditioned, trained and I can overcome any setbacks. When it is all over, the pleasure comes quietly, and I enjoy a tickling feeling."

A painter in Japan for over half his life and then a creator of monumental flightless kites, Yoshimura carved his first pieces in wood in 1970 for an exhibition at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He realized he had found his best form of expression and has since produced nearly 500 wood sculptures.

His inspiration obviously stems from his Japanese roots. "Japanese know how to use natural wood very well," he says simply, and shares memories of the wood shrines in each home, of wood boxes from train station restaurants that smelled both of cedar and the traveler's lunch, and of other wood objects important in Japanese life.

"Wood is dry and clean," he says. "I don't care for sticky things, and dislike plastic the most. Wood has texture and smell. I love it."

The Tools He Uses. Working with sets of Japanese chisels and saws (which are pulled rather than pushed like American ones) and tools he improvises for special needs -- and even rubber bands -- Yoshimura can produce one of his bicycles in a week or ten days. In contrast, his first bicycle, which was his first wood sculpture, took over a month. His first typewriter took three months; now he can carve one in a month.

"It is a matter of training and developing the proper attitude and techniques," he says. "And having good tools. When I started, I only had a knife and an electric drill."

Yoshimura's favorite wood is linden which he discovered in Sweden in 1974, but he has also carved from many other woods including scraps found on the streets in New York City. All pieces are creamy pale, unpainted natural wood.

Born in Kamakura, Japan, in 1926, Yoshimura earned a M.F.A. degree at Tokyo University of Art. He came to the United States in 1962.

He has had many solo exhibitions and was included in ten group shows around the world this year alone. His work is owned by several

MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

HONORED: Red Cross chairman David Glen (center) and disaster chairman Kenneth Wells (right) are presented a special citation for excellence in meeting the National Red Cross Special Disaster Fund by Robert Sharf, director of fund raising for the Harriman-Metropolitan division. The Princeton Chapter was asked to raise $3,754 as its quota of a fund which was depleted by disasters such as those in Guam, the Teton Dam area, Houston and Oklahoma. The response from the community was immediate and generous, and the goal was met, prompting the citation.

Chappelle Award from the Marine Corps League, an award given in memory of Dickey Chapelle, a newspaper reporter who lost her life in a booby trap while on a Marine patrol. The award was given to the woman who, in the opinion of the League, had contributed most to the morale, welfare and well-being of Marines in the preceding year. The first award had been given to Martha Raye, the entertainer.

For 18 months in Vietnam, Mrs. Caldwell lived "on the economy" among Vietnamese neighbors, learning what she calls "kitchen Vietnamese."

"Remarkable people!" she exclaims, "they have such facility in languages and remember a 12-year-old boy at the USO who made change in three currencies!"

A Christening. Last Sunday, more than 300 friends and strangers filled the Caldwell house to christen the book. Announcements about its publication had been sent to a long list and a news story in a Trenton daily brought even more people.

"One man came from Fort Dix. He said I'd helped his commanding officer, who'd been badly wounded, and he wanted to write his CO and tell him he'd seen me."

Two years ago, Mrs. Caldwell went back, but she was not allowed out of Saigon. She would like to see what has happened since the war, but she says the stories she has heard "are not encouraging."

She likes to end on a happy note, this quick, bird-like woman with her smile and her sense of humor. The warehouse with the 4,000 copies of "Sin One Way Economy Class" - a stack of eight cartons with great big letters on the side: "100 SINS".

She knows her Marines would have loved that.

TO SHOW BALLOON FILM
To Benefit Israel Hospital.
As part of its annual fund raising supplies shower, the Princeton Chapter of Hadassah will sponsor a film, "The Great American Balloon Adventure," Monday at 7:45 at the Jewish Center. The film will be followed by talks and displays.

Gordon Sadler, president of the Princeton University Balloon Club and a FAA commercial balloonist, airplane pilot and second place finisher in the N.J. Bicentennial Balloon Race in Ringoes, will join David E. Lowe, FAA commercial balloonist, pilot and first place winner of the Great Bicentennial Balloon Race of Long Island, in answering questions. The Flying Tiger, the University's own balloon, will be available for inspection.

Children of all ages, husbands and non-members are invited. There is no admission charge, but contributions of any amount will go toward filling the linen supplies of Hadassah Hospital in Israel. These include items such as diapers, dustcloths, blankets, surgical coats, towels, pajamas, doctors' and nurses' uniforms and sterile packing, all of which must be kept in stock to keep the hospital functioning in the GIRL SCOUTS HELPING FUND: Lauren Wood (left) a member of Cadet Troop 674, and Liz Kelger of Senior Troop 698 are among 30 girl scouts who assisted the United Fund Campaign by distributing posters and kits to the small businesses in the Borough and Township. treatment of Arab and Jew alike.

Punch and cookies will be served by hostesses Fran Baum, Helene Buckwald, Barbara Curran, Adrienne Friedman, Maryellen Kessler, Barbara Litt, Miriam Robin and Faith Watov. Chairmen of the event are Linda Meyer and Martha Rossman.

The Ladies Auxillary of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, Inc. will hold a Holiday Bazaar Saturday from 10 to 5 in the squad building on North Harrison Street. The bazaar will feature a variety of holiday gift items, including needlecraft, Christmas decorations, baked goods. There will be a white elephant table and refreshments will be available.

The Women's Club will be host to Dr. Robert Dicke, Einstein Professor Science at Princeton University, Thursday at 8. Hostesses will be Mesdames Russell Bettes, Kenneth Osteheim, Akira Asano, Aldo Bedford, Charles Berents, William Boyd, L.L. Burns, J.G. Deardorff, Albert Giese Jr., Dan R. Hartmann, Charles B. Helms, Eric Hockings, Peter Hodge and Clayton Jacobus. Also serving will be Miss Isabel P. Greswold and Miss A. Myrtle Hensor.

The community service department will sponsor a special meeting on Monday at the home of Mrs. Larry Kole, 1 Sutton Lane, Princeton Junction, for Operation Candy-Cookie. Members should bring candy and cookies to fill cans for Christmas presents.

The Lawrence Township Senior Citizen Club 2 will hold its next meeting Tuesday at 1 at American Legion Hall, 100 Berwyn Place. Games will start at noon; refreshments will be served.

The Friday Club of the YWCA will meet Friday for lunch at 12:30 at the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place. Mrs. James Sutton, an Englishwoman who spent 50 years in the Middle East as a missionary and teacher with her American husband, will talk on highlights of those years.

All older women in the community are invited, and those who need rides are asked to telephone the YWCA, 924-4825, before 11 the day of the meeting.

The Community Alternatives Group will hold its monthly open potluck supper and meeting Saturday from 7 to 10 at the Friend's School, Quaker Road. John Toscano, horticulture teacher at Princeton High School, will give an illustrated talk on indoor food gardening. The CAG is an organization for individuals wishing to explore

YOUNG MEN SOUGHT
For Rotary Exchange Program. The Rotary Club is seeking young business and professional men to participate in a Group Study Exchange to the South-Central area of the Philippines for a six-week period. The group will be hosted by Philippine families and will have exposure to all facets of business, cultural, professional and home life in that country.

The Group Study Exchange is an educational activity of the Rotary Foundation which provides travel grants for the exchange of teams between paired Rotary Districts in different countries.

Last spring, District 751 of this area hosted a team from the District 385 of the Philippines and is now selecting the return team. All travel, lodging and meal expenses of the group while in the host district, will be provided by Rotarians. Each district must send and receive a team within a two-year period.

Each team is composed of the district governor's

Schedule Changed

Because of holidays, the regular fourth-Wednesday meetings of the Township Zoning Board have been cancelled for November and December. These are the meetings of November 24 and December 22.

Instead, the Zoning Board has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, December 7, at 7:30 p.m. The agenda will be announced.

representative, a Rotarian from the district, and five outstanding young men who are between 25 and 35 years of age, are non-Rotarians, and who represent a cross section of the business and professional personnel in the district sponsoring the trip.

Since the program began in 1965, the Rotary Foundation has granted 793 Group Study Exchange awards involving 4195 young men and more than 50 countries. The awards are valued at more than $5 million. Interested applicants should contact the Rev. Jack Cooper, president of the Rotary Club of Princeton 921-8300 or Dean W. Chace, 921-7230, for information. Applications must be received by December 1.

at 924-0503 between 4 and 9 p.m. before December 4.

SNOW REMOVAL PLANNED
For Senior Citizens. The Joint Commission on Aging will again sponsor a snow removal service for senior citizens. Student volunteers from Princeton Day School, Princeton High School and Stuart Country Day School will shovel walkways, porches and steps for Princeton senior citizens 60 years and older. Volunteers will not receive compensation.

The Commission asks that senior citizens who do not have an able bodied member of their family available to shovel snow for them call the Health Commission at 924-3407 between 9 and 4:30 Monday through Friday. Students who wish to volunteer should also call the Commission.

This year the students are taking part in the operation of the program. There will be a check and balance system, with student captains overseeing their peers to insure the shoveling is done. Students will also be involved in matching students with seniors and in the details of organizing the operation.

Mrs. G. Alan Zimmerman of Moran Avenue is the coordinator.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

At Stuart School, Stuart Country Day School will hold a Fall Open House for prospective students on Sunday at 2. Students and their parents will have an opportunity to learn just how close Stuart is to any area through the new bus route system, to see "Stuart in action" through the slide-tape presentation, to speak with Sister Judith Garson, Headmistress, and to tour the school with members of the student admissions committee.

Numerous requests for information about Stuart from parents who lived too near for bus transportation or in an area not covered by a bus route indicated a need which was not being met. As a result, in the spring, Mrs. Kenneth Keuffel, Director of Admissions, and her staff undertook an intensive study of the problem.

The solution already in progress this fall, is the expanded bus system which now covers the new areas as far North as New Brunswick, as far East as Cranbury and Twin Rivers, (stopping at Hightstown, Dutch Neck, Plainsboro, Princeton Junction, and the East and West Windsors) as well as the previously established routes as far South as Trenton and Yardley and as far West as Hopewell.

Parents living in town have also been satisfied, for several of these buses now pick up Princeton students who live under the two and ½ mile limit imposed by the State regulations. Any family interested in learning more about Stuart is invited. For further information call Mrs. Keuffel at the school, 921-2330.

AFS TO SELL CITRUS

For Scholarship Fund. Grapefruit and oranges from the Texas Rio Grande Valley are being sold by the Princeton American Field Service Committee for the benefit of their foreign student scholarship fund.

Each year AFS brings high school students from abroad to live as members of Princeton area families while selected local youngsters go to one of the 60 countries which have volunteer host families. Cost to the young people ranges from $1200 to $2100. Students pay as much as they can afford. The AFS Scholarship Fund makes up the difference.

Twenty-pound boxes of 18-24 red, seedless grapefruit or 40-50 TexaSweet oranges at $5 per box will be trucked directly to Princeton for delivery before Christmas. Orders may be placed by telephoning Mrs. Michael Lion

FIBER IS TOPIC

Of Adult School Talk. "Focus on Fiber" will be the title of Lore Lindenfeld's lecture in the "Many Faces of Art" series at the Princeton Adult School. The lecture, which is offered as part of the program or on an individual lecture basis, will be held Thursday, November 18, in the Princeton High School library.

Ms. Lindenfeld, who is coordinator of these lectures for the Adult School, will explore fiber in various textile techniques as a contemporary art form and will show examples by artists from various parts of the world. She has studied with Josef Albers at Black Mountain College, appeared in both museum and gallery exhibits and is a member of the visual arts department at Middlesex County College.

FEATURE FILM SET

At Public Library. The Public Library will present "Caesar and Cleopatra," a full-length color feature film, Thursday, November 18, at 8. Claude Rains and Vivien Leigh star in the leading roles of this classic based upon George Bernard Shaw's satire and plea for peace in a military world.

The program is made possible by the Friends of the

CRAFTS ON VIEW
At YWCA Marketplace. Creativity and variety are the key words for the hundreds of handcrafted items to be presented at the YWCA's third annual Craft Women's Marketplace Saturday from 10 to 4 at the YM-YWCA building. Many of the skills will be demonstrated, and all of the artists' work will be for sale.

Anita Hamilton of Skillman will explain the art of salt sculpture. Sally Miller of Kendall Park will show how to use classic methods of patchwork. Several contributors will demonstrate hand weaving and spinning, and all the artists will discuss their crafts and answer questions.

There will be jewelry fashioned from Indian coins, shells, crewel and liquid silver. The various media include woodworking, egg art, bread dough sculpture, leather crafts, stained glass, macrame, basketry, and needlework creations. The painter's touch will be evident in Barbara Pinkham's Chinese water colors, Joan Bennett's pastel portraits, and an array of hand-painted T-shirts.

Youngsters of all ages may see Betty Burlingame show how applehead dolls are made. There will also be bottle dolls by Eileen Dayton, dollhouse miniatures, puppets and hand-carved wooden toys from several artisans.

A soup and sandwich lunch prepared by TWCA Newcomers Club will be available, while shoppers decide on their bids for the Silent Auction. Among the items in the Auction are a painting by a local artist assessed at $300, a stone rubbing from a Cambodian temple and an Oriental silk painting.

The special extra at the Marketplace in an exhibit of artifacts from the Hudibras Dig, Princeton's first archaeological excavation. Presented by the Arts Council courtesy of the Historical Society, this exhibit, the crafts and demonstrations, the Silent Auction, and a Bake Sale sponsored by the YWCA Friday Club, are all open to the public for a donation of $1 for those over 12. All proceeds will benefit the Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund of the Princeton YWCA.

SHOPPING TOUR SET
To Aid Scholarships at PHS. The Business and Professional Women's Club will run a Christmas Shopping Tour Saturday, December 4 to Reading, Pa. for the benefit of the Princeton High School BPW Scholarship Fund. Outlet stores in Reading include Vanity Fair (half price on all items), Kay Windsor dresses, the McGregor Factory, Ship and Shore, a famous raincoat outlet, a luggage company, and several shoe outlet stores.

The bus will depart from Princeton at 7:30 and will return at approximately 8 p.m. So that each person can schedule her own time for shopping, no lunch or dinner is planned. Lunch may be purchased at a new cafeteria in the rear of the Vanity Fair Outlet.

any girl student in the senior class of Princeton High School with high scholastic standing and high qualities of character, personality, and initiative who is planning to further her training in the field of business or the professions. In addition, a prize in honor of A. Myrtle Hensor is awarded each year to the senior girl of Princeton High School with the highest scholarship in business education subjects.

SIGHTSCREENING SET
For Seniors In West Windsor. The West Windsor Lions Club will provide a sight screening and glaucoma test for senior citizens on Saturday between 9 and 2 in the Princeton Junction Acme parking lot behind Will's Shell Station where the Lions Sight Saver Van will be located. Testing will be under the direction of Dr. Earl Simon who will be assisted by other Lion members.

All residents of the West Windsor community age 60 or over are invited to be tested. There is no charge for the service, and those persons found to have problems with vision or glaucoma will be referred to their own doctors.

The Lions Club in Cuzco, Peru, have made a request for used eyeglasses to give to Inca Indians in the remote villages around Cuzco. There is a doctor who donates his services to go around to the villages in a medium size van outfitted by the Cuzco Lions and who checks over teeth, nose and ears as well as eyes of the Indians. He will give out the glasses, using the best possible fit on the theory that some type of glasses are better than no glasses at all.

Glasses may be given to any member of the West Windsor Lions Club or may be brought to Will's Shell Station, Princeton Junction Liquor Store or Lucar Hardware, all on Hightstown Road. For more information call Dr. Simon, Lions Sight Committee chairman, at 799-2468, or Bernt Midland at 799-1642.

TO SELL FRUIT CAKES
In West Windsor. For the 10th straight year, the West Windsor Lions are again selling Benson fruit cakes. Filled with fruit and nuts and pre-sliced, the three-pound cakes sell for just $4.75, partly because they are packed in a plain cardboard box rather than a fancy tin container.

The cakes make fine holiday gifts. They may be obtained from any West Windsor Lion Club member or by calling the fruit cake chairman, Mike Lynch, at 799-1462. Cakes will also be sold at Lucar Hardware on Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction.

The West Windsor Lions are also selling a handmade quilt and 20 new pocket books as a fund raising project for the Keenagers Senior Citizen Club. Proceeds will assist the club with their many activities and their monthly dinner and meeting.

Co-chairmen are Norm Hulick, 799-1209, and Stan Tantum, 799-1696, assisted by the Keenagers president, Leon Reuter, 799-0336. Lucar Hardware or Will's Shell Station on Hightstown Road have details on the project.

TO EXHIBIT DOLLS
At Hopewell Antique Shop. High Button Shoe Antiques, 2 Bank Place, Hopewell, will feature an exhibit on "Unusual Dolls," December 5 through January 9. The dolls are part of a large collection and have never been exhibited publicly before.

The opening and reception will take place from 2-5 Sunday, December 5, at High Button Shoe.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS office, it costs 20 cents.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you by John Bernard

Here's a football fact that's hard to believe ... There was once a man who was the head football coach of a college team and a pro team at the SAME TIME! ... It happened in 1941 ... Buff Donelli was head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, and of Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, running practice for one in the morning, and the other in the afternoon ... Finally, the NFL ordered him to choose one job or the other, and he gave up the Steeler post ... But, for part of the 1941 season, Buff Donelli made football history.

We'd guess that not one fan in a thousand can tell you the real first names of all 6 of these famous football men - Pete Rozelle, Woody Hayes, Bo Schembechler, Pat Summerall, Sonny Jurgensen and Bud Grant ... Their real first names are: Alvin Rozelle, Wayne Hayes, Glenn Schembechler, George Summerall, Christian Jurgensen and Harry Grant.

Oddly enough, although you'd think that a lot of quarterbacks would become head coaches, only 2 former National Football League quarterbacks are head coaches today in the NFL -- Bart Starr at Green Bay and Ted Marchibroda at Baltimore.

I bet you didn't know ... that good students can get a discount on their auto insurance. It pays to study.

Princeton Football in Trouble on Many Counts; Rebuilding Program Collapses after 2-7 Season

LAUNCHED, TO NO AVAIL: Jack Flannery, Princeton quarterback, got this pass away in time, but it was overthrown to tight end Todd Jacobson. Closing out his career against Dartmouth Saturday, Flannery was a respectable 9 for 17 and the Tigers' lone touchdown in a 33-7 defeat.

Princeton's football season ended in considerable disarray Saturday as its team walked off the field in a 33-to-7 loser to Dartmouth, which is no better than fourth best in the Ivy League. The Tigers will now wait ten months before opening the 1977 season against that same opponent at Hanover, N.H., and there is no reason to believe the outcome will be any different.

Before that time, however, there may be coaching changes made at one or more levels, because dissatisfaction inevitably pervades the atmosphere when losses mount. One of the replacements may come at the freshman level, where Artie Williams has been in charge for the past five years.

During the course of a 2-3-1 season, the Class of 1980 dropped two of its three games with other Ivy colleges and rarely gave a demonstration of solid football. Dissatisfaction with the manner in which the freshman program is conducted reportedly exists among the Friends of Princeton Football, an advisory organization composed mostly of former players, and with the varsity coaching staff.

The four colleges which finished in the league's first division for the last two years have said quite openly that they admit a number of applicants with athletic ability who may not meet every admissions standard but who are believed to have the academic potential to earn a degree from them. Once they are in college, they must meet the same academic standards as any other student; if they do not, withdrawal is required.

The extent to which Princeton might switch policy in favor of football is highly questionable, but Casciola is apparently looking for some assurance that he can in time meet the top Ivies with personnel of equal ability. The decision as to whether he stayed was his, because the University wanted him if he chose to continue. A major factor in such thinking is his deserved popularity with the players--if dissatisfaction in any major degree existed there, a change on a basis of a four year 11-24-1 record would be virtually inevitable.

LONG ROAD AHEAD
Problems Lack Solutions. Because Princeton was so completely outclassed in losing its final two games to Yale and Dartmouth by a combined score of 72 to 14, belief that the 1977 season will be appreciably better than this year's dismal 2-7 is without logic. The 65 points the Tigers managed in their nine games included only seven touchdowns, and ranks as the lowest total (exclusive of the three-game schedule of 1944) since 1931.

The Orange and Black began the season without an established quarterback and, when junior Kirby Lockhart was benched for senior Jack Flannery Saturday, ended the year without one for 1977. Free of the ankle injury that slowed him virtually all season, Bobby Isom could give Princeton a running back better than any save Pagliaro of Yale, except for the fact that the Tiger line's blocking capabilities are likely to remain below par.

Princeton's real problem is that it was playing the same brand of poor football at the end of the season that it was at the beginning. The opening quarter against Dartmouth (which saw the Green all but break the game open, to lead by 17-0 after 15 minutes) was marked by an all-time Princeton first: successive penalties for illegal procedure before the ball was even snapped.

In that opening period, the Tigers fumbled to give the visitors their first touchdown, yielded a 44-yard field goal and another TD, and hobbled their own offense with penalties so costly that they never crossed their own 35-yard line. No team with a sputtering attack (187 yards on the day) is going to over-

Victory over Notre Dame Assures Princeton High Of First Place Finish in Colonial Valley League

Had Princeton High School lost Saturday to visiting Notre Dame it would have lost everything.

It didn't. Although the score—18 to 16—was close, the home team won big. It combined another fine running game by Tony Strong, who scored all three PHS touchdowns, some fine line play in the trenches and a key interception by Todd Blackledge in the waning moments to forge its victory.

Now the Little Tigers are in the catbird seat. The Notre Dame victory has reversed the positions of the two schools. Now it is the Irish who must defeat St. Anthony's on Thanksgiving Day if they hope to share the first Colonial Valley Conference crown with PHS.

PHS with a 4-1 league record is assured a piece of the title. No team can take that away. Should ND lose to St. Anthony's, the Little Tigers would own it outright.

All along, PHS coach Jim Beachell, who quietly and without much fanfare has done an outstanding job at Princeton High (this is his third year as head coach) has maintained that his squad had as good a chance as anyone to win the championship. He has his team knocking on the door.

His biggest job now will be to guard against a letdown in Saturday's final game here against Trenton High. Kickoff is 11 a.m.

Trenton isn't going anywhere this season, dropping six of eight, including a 27-7 loss to Ewing in its last outing. A win would leave Princeton High with a 6-3 record—Beachell's best since taking over.

"Had to score 21." "We felt we had to score 21 to win," said Beachell after the Notre Dame victory. "We knew they would come back on us and we had to hold them in the first half."

The game followed that script almost to a T. PHS scored three times on TD runs of seven, three and two yards by Strong but only came up with 18 points when all three attempts for the extra point failed. Notre Dame, noted as a strong second-half team, did finally come to life and threaten to steal the game from the Little Tigers, much as it had done the previous week against Hightstown in the final 47 seconds.

Notre Dame clearly had the momentum in the closing minutes, but two big plays—both by Blackledge—thwarted the Irish. After ND had forced PHS to give up the ball again with 3:22 left, Blackledge put them in the hole with a 50-yard punt that carried to the eight.

Six plays later with 1:59 to go, with no time outs left and ND quarterback Ron Vernon passing on every play to try to get his team within field goal range, Blackledge intercepted him on the 40.

Earlier, the cliffhanger had all the aura of a rout. In the first period, PHS drove 68 yards, as Strong and fullback Keith Wadsworth broke through behind the hard-charging PHS line for consistent gains. Strong handled the ball six times, Wadsworth four on the drive. On a fourth-and-seven, Strong fought his way over on a fine-second effort after being hit short of the goal.

There was nothing fancy about the PHS attack, just straight ahead plays. After the game, former PHS coach Dick Wood, an interested spectator, commented: "That game was won on the line."

PHS Goes 81 Yards. In the second period, PHS marched 81 yards, with Strong again fighting his way over the goal line from the three after being hit short of the goal. Except for a 19-yard look-in pass from Blackledge to Ron Reimann, it was all on the ground.

In the first half, Strong rushed for 89 yards, Wadsworth for 59. Strong finished with 106 before leaving on the final play of the third period with a leg cramp. Notre Dame, in contrast, had been limited to one first down and 61 yards.

When Strong scored again in the third period to culminate a 65-yard drive, highlighted by a 23-yard strike from Blackledge to Reimann, the Notre Dame squad was deathly quiet. It suddenly sprang to life however, when Rich Weasner intercepted a Blackledge pass on the Irish 30.

Carl Fuccello, a 145-lb. sophomore back, who Beachell described as "A tough little kid," scored ND from seven yards out with 30 seconds left in the third period. Vernon passed to Barry Dekis for the two-point conversion.

Following a short punt to the PHS 45, Notre Dame was soon driving again, as Jeff

Tiger Basketball Team Confronted with Need To Replace Hill and Hauptfuhrer, Now in NBA

Pete Carril is his own worst problem—seemingly every season, he has an awfully tough act to follow just matching what he has accomplished the year before.

Two years ago, he brought a team out of nowhere in the final four weeks to qualify for the NIT and then proceeded to win it. Last winter, he swept the Ivy League, lost to Rutgers by a point in the opening round of NCAA action and then saw the Scarlet go to the semi-finals before a team could end its long string of victories.

But gone from Jadwin Gymnasium now are the two chief architects of those major achievements—Armond Hill, a first-round pick of Atlanta, and Barnes Hauptfuhrer, whose surprising fourth-round selection by Houston was as much a tribute to Carril's development of the Tiger senior as it was to Hauptfuhrer. Despite the personal bag of miracles that Carril has to his credit in his decade at Princeton, he is quite unlikely to match last year's superb 22-4 regular-season record. The loss of Hill and Hauptfuhrer appears a bit too much.

This does not mean that the Tigers will fail to give the Ivy favorite, Penn, a battle down to the wire in a race that sees oft-beaten Columbia as a resurgent dark horse. The Tigers were first in the nation defensively last year with a 52.8 average, and will again be extremely sticky to score against. Nobody figures to outclass them.

Three Places Open. Graduating with Hill and Hauptfuhrer were Mickey Steuerer, a co-captain with Hill and three-year regular, and Pete Molloy, a highly capable backcourt reserve. Accordingly, Carril must replace three starters, but the blow is softened to some extent because junior Bill Omeltchenko saw so much action as a stand-in for the slumping Steuerer.

Holdover starters from the Ivy champions are Captain Bob Slaughter, a 6-5 forward who averaged 8.9 points and 4.4 rebounds and is a defensive standout, and Frank Sowinski, a 6-5 forward who was an instant success in his first year on the varsity. A knee injury kept him out of five games but he averaged 11.5 points and will in all likelihood top that this winter.

Completing the front line is a 6-8 sophomore, Bob Roma, who came to Princeton after being widely recruited. He averaged 18.5 on the 12-6 freshman team, collaring 9.6 rebounds.

With Omeltchenko in one of the guard spots, there is a four-way battle for the job next to him. Junior Rich Rizzuto moves well and is a good ball-handler; Doug Snyder is possibly the best shot on the squad; Tim Olah and John Lewis were starters on the freshmen last year.

Additional Height. Roma will be spelled at center by either 6-8 Ernie Murphy, a junior, or the tallest man on the squad, 6-11 sophomore Tom Young. In the battle for a place on the team as reserve forwards are Bob Kleinert and Rich Starsia, who lettered as sophomores, and Bob Garber and Jon Dunlay, a pair of 6-7 sophomores. There are, however, only 12 places available.

An exhibition game with the touring Peruvian National team is on the schedule for Friday night at 8 in Jadwin Gym. The following Saturday, November 27, Colgate will be here to open the regular season, with Navy due in Jadwin Wednesday night, December 1. For the complete schedule, see the center pages of this section.

had three different game plans worked out. "I wasn't going into the game with just one," he said.

He cited the play of Blackledge who said that he had called a lot of audibles to exploit Notre Dame's shifting linebackers. "He's coming along; last week he started to put it together."

He also praised the play of his guards, Jim O'Grady, Brian Cleveland, Bruno Perna and Karim ElMiligi.

Beachell was prepared, however. He reported that he

For the first time in 108 years of football, Princeton will have co-captains next year.

The 1975 team has elected running back Bobby Isom and corner back Larry Lutz. Despite a nagging ankle injury, Isom ranked among the top ball carriers in yards gained rushing this season in the Ivy League, after having won his first letter as a sophomore.

Lutz made rapid progress in his first year on the varsity in 1975, and earned a starting position this fall. In his two games against Dartmouth, he has intercepted three passes.

PDS Soccer Team Defeats Wardlaw, 1-0 To Win State Class B Championship

The Princeton Day soccer team closed out its season in an entirely fitting manner last Friday, beating Wardlaw, 1-0, for the state Class B title.

The margin of victory was provided, as it had been so many other times this year, by junior inside Mike Walters in the first period. The Blue and White had another score called by a few minutes later on a questionable offside call, but the defense, which never permitted more than three goals in any game, was equal to the task.

Coach Tom DeVito cited Dave Mali for playing a really outstanding game, and also praised the play of Tony Knott, and fullbacks Andy Sanford and Quinn McCord. He had special words, also, for inside John Hickling, who saw limited action most of the season because of various injuries.

Still not in top shape, Hickling played virtually all of both tournament games, and was the chief reason the Panthers were able to control the ball so much of the time in the middle of the field.

In the second half, DeVito changed his alignment to a two-four-four to bolster the defense even more, and Wardlaw was unable to penetrate effectively.

The victory gained a strong measure of revenge for PDS, who was beaten by the same score by Wardlaw a year ago in the state finals. The Panthers have now been in the finals six consecutive years, winning three and losing three. They last won in 1973, beating Montclair, 2-0.

A 2-0 win over Dwight-Englewood two days before had put PDS into the championship round. Outshooting the visitors 38-4, the Blue and White tallied twice in the third period.

John Haraldson got the first when he headed in a crossing shot by Mali, and Walters picked up the insurance marker on a pass from Jay Nusblatt.

Walter's total of 24 goals this season gives him the school record in that department, and with one year left, he already holds the career mark with 36. He scored two as a freshman and 12 last year.

gained from the fact that Admiral Farragut entered the game with a nine-game losing streak dating from the 1975 season. Hun ended with a 1-7 record. Its only victory came in the second game, a 14-6 triumph over Peddie.

For Hun, it was the same litany: no offense, lots of mistakes and fumbles. Dave Dudeck, Hun's best runner in the first half of the season but hobbled the last four games by an ankle injury, got in for one play. Hun coach Dave Leete observed that the only steady player on the Hun squad all season was guard Bob Cronin.

Leete loses three-fourths of his backfield through graduation -- Dudeck and halfbacks Timmy Teel and Bob Cottrell. Only quarterback Brian Lee returns.

Other seniors departing are tackle Keith MacEwan, end Stef Nyktas, tackle David Gering and guard Scott Smith of Princeton.

What went wrong? "I'm not sure," said Leete, who acknowledged it was "a real bad season. The kids just didn't seem to want it."

The loss of Dudeck, who scored all four Hun TDs in the first two games, hurt, said Leete. "He was the heart of our running game. We made a lot of mistakes from that point on."

Although the season did not turn out as Leete hoped it would, he has no time to dwell on it. Basketball practice started Monday and Leete is Hun's basketball coach. Between seasons, he had one day of rest.

PERFECT SEASON ENDS

For PHS Girls Soccer Team. The Princeton High School girls soccer team had it all this season -- a strong offense, stingy defense, an outstanding goalie ... and a 12-0 season's record. In the past two years, the Little Tigers, coached by Carol Parsons, have won 21 of 22 games and tied one.

Last week, the PHS girls added another laurel: the Princeton Day School tournament. They defeated Edison, 3-2, on two goals by Cathy Arcaro and one by Carol Ann Mazzella, and on Friday in the finals against host PDS, PHS won again, 3-2, on a pair of goals by Lucy Baruch and one by Arcaro. It was the third meeting this season between the two rival schools.

Princeton High center half Baruch won the tournament's "most valuable player" award. PHS goalie Peggie Wood, who allowed only six goals during the entire regular season, had 35 saves in the PDS Tournament.

High scorer for PHS during the season was Arcaro with 18. Mazzella had eight, Baruch six, left wing Sarah Hommel four, and left half Pam Cobb, three. Cornelia Reider and Alouette Kluge scored two while Karen Piper, Libby Kappas had one apiece. PHS outscored its opposition, 46-6.

Wood, together with fullbacks Jeanne Casciola,

HEADED FOR NEW ORLEANS: Eight-year-old Keith Colivita of 15 Pine Knoll Drive, Lawrence Township, won the Ford Punt, Pass and Kick area competition at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia and is headed to New Orleans for the divisional semifinals on December 12. During the warm-up for the competition, Keith received some last-minute advice from the Philadelphia Eagles' safety/punter Bill Bradley. He went on to outscore his 8-year-old opponent and earned the right to represent the Eagles against the area champions of the other 12 National Football Conference teams. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Colivita, Keith is sponsored in PP&K by Nassau-Conover Motor Company.

Lisa Schwartz and Laurie Meade, led a strong PHS defense throughout the season. Wood and Schwartz co-captained the team.

But while West Windsor may not have been guilty of turnovers, it was making basic mistakes in blocking and tackling. "They just dominated us; they kept us in the hole with their kicking

FINAL GAME SATURDAY

For West Windsor Eleven. It hasn't been much of a season for the West Windsor football team; even a win over Hightstown Saturday in its final game of the season won't improve the record that much.

The finale with the Rams will be played at the West Windsor field, starting at 1:30. It is a Colonial Valley Conference contest but both teams are out of contention. West Windsor will be coming off a 26-0 shutout administered by North Brunswick, which ran up 380 yards rushing against the Pirates.

Hightstown, which began the season with three straight wins, lost last week to Morristown. But WW coach Rex Walker agreed that his team "will definitely have its hands full" trying to contain Ram running backs Jeff Catelli and Mark Clements and quarterback Al Hausherr. "They have a nice team," said Walker. "All are real good runners."

In the process of scoring 13 points in the first half and 13 in the second, North Brunswick also was tagged with 130 yards in penalties against 15 for the Pirates. "If we had been evenly matched, we should have won just on penalties," commented Walker.

PHS AGAIN PREVAILS
In Girls' Soccer Over PDS. Three times the Princeton Day girls' soccer team met their counterparts from Princeton High this fall, and three times they walked away on the short end of the score.

The latest encounter came last Friday when the two schools played in the finals of the PDS tournament. PHS had beaten Edison High and the Panthers nipped Hillside, 2-1, in the first round of the post-season event.

The Blue and White took an early 1-0 lead in the first period when Drew Rosenberg headed in a crossing shot by Sandra Benson. But Princeton High came back to tie the score 1-1 before the quarter ended.

From there, the talented foot of Lucy Baruch, voted the tournament's most valuable player, did the rest. She scored on a direct kick in the second quarter and another from farther out in the third to provide the margin of victory. Both shots were perfectly placed in the upper left hand corner of the goal.

Rosenberg brought the Panthers to within one in the fourth period, when she scored on a pass from Clooie Sherman. PDS had another excellent chance later in the period when two players came in alone on PHS goalie Peggy Wood. She made an outstanding save, however, and saved the game as well. If PDS had tied the score, and time had run out without another goal, it would have been awarded the victory on the basis of more corner kicks.

"They're a fine team," coach Alan Taback commented. "I'm not saying we should have won, rather that we could have."

In the first round contest with Hillside, a team it had defeated twice earlier in the season, PDS got off to a slow start, and trailed 1-0 for most of the first half.

Then Alexis Arlett scored with just two minutes remaining before the intermission, and added the winning tally on a penalty kick in the third period.

Rosenberg received the MVP award for the season, senior halfback Christy Black and sophomore goalie Carolyn Hartshorne shared most improved honors and left wing Catherine Ferrante and

Tiger Hockey Team Aims for .500 Mark (Again) As Season Opens with 2 Games This Weekend

Princeton's hockey team will open its season Saturday night at 7:30 and at the same time begin its quest for higher status in the Ivy League when it plays Yale. The contest with the Elis marks the first time since the sport was originated here at the turn of the century that the Blue has been the Tigers' first opponent.

Providence College, one of the better independents in the East, will be here Sunday night at 7:30. An exhibition game with the St. Nicholas Hockey Club was on the schedule for Wednesday night of this week.

Only four seniors are on this year's squad, which is accordingly younger than usual but is nonetheless hopeful that it can achieve the .500 mark that has eluded Princeton on ice for the past decade. Loss of several key players through graduation from last winter's 7-16-1 team makes the goal of a break-even season a major challenge.

Gone are the top scorer, Craig Dahl; Captain Dunc Fisher and Gary O'Meara, two other forwards who saw constant action; and, from behind the blue line, defenseman Al Rosner and goalie Robin Rollefstad. The latter, almost invariably a beleaguered figure, was voted by his teammates as their most valuable player.

striker Maggie Gordon, both juniors, were named co-captains for next season.

SHOWDOWN ON SUNDAY
Nassau Conover Vs. Rug Mart. Both Nassau Conover and Rug Mart posted shutout victories last week to remain tied in the Princeton Midget Football League with 4-1 records.

The two will clash Sunday at 1 at the Princeton High School field for the league championship. The other two league teams, Fuel Oil and U-Store, are also even with 1-4 records.

Rug Mart defeated Fuel Oil, 18-0, last week. After a scoreless first period, Eric Broadway returned a Fuel Oil punt to the losers' 25 from where quarterback Tom Scibetta scored on a keeper around left end on the next play.

Mike Mazzola's two-yard plunge for six points in the same period culminated a 40-yard Rug Mart Drive that featured the running of Bob Dennehy, Scibetta and Broadway. The final score came in the third period following an interception of a Fuel Oil pass by Major Brown, with Scibetta then going over

Jack Semler

O'Leary the Goalie. Senior Mike O'Leary, who was the net-minder in 10 games last season, will start there this winter, with Fred Cherne in reserve. The top four defensemen are Henry Lane, who set a Princeton record for assists from that position with 17; senior Jay Quinby, junior Doug Ritts and sophomore Dave Kelley.

Centering the first line will be Craig Tresham, whose freshman debut last winter was marked by 13 goals, highest number credited to any player. Wingers on his line will in all likelihood be Trevor Kilborn, another standout sophomore and senior Kris Kollevoll.

A second trio may be composed of Frank Techar, a junior whose scoring totals last year were third best on the team with 11 goals and nine assists; Bill Tresham and Barry Wihak. Coach Jack Semler has said that he plans to use Wednesday's game with the St. Nicks as a decision basis for finalizing his lines.

The Tigers ended the 1975-76 season on a high note when they upset Clarkson, 3-2, and trounced Penn, 5-1. It was the first time in a quarter-century that they had closed out a schedule by winning their last two games.

Semler reports that this squad is working harder and showing a greater degree of enthusiasm than any with which he has been associated here, as he begins his fourth year. His hopes are that the Tigers can establish a winning pattern early to begin the season on firm footing.

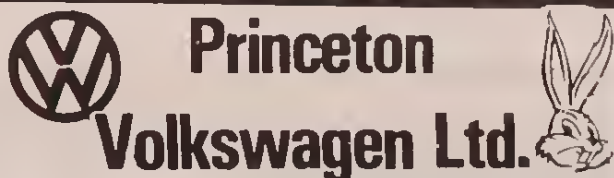

The task isn't easy — after Yale and Providence comes a road game with Dartmouth at Hanover, while such rugged opposition as Brown, Northeastern and Boston University are all on the pre-Christmas list. See the centerfold of this section for the complete schedule.

from the nine.

Budd Scores 10th TD. Steve Budd, the league's leading scorer and rusher, could not be contained by the U-Store defense either, as he rushed for 105 yards in 13 carries and scored the game's first TD — his tenth — on a two-yard plunge to lead Nassau Conover to a 20-0 win.

U-Store had entered the game looking for its second upset victory over coach Peter Budd's N-C team. Earlier, for its only win, it had stopped Nassau-Conover on a 65-yard kickoff return — the only score yielded this season by the Nassau-Conover defense.
